FRENCH SUBMARINE FAILS TO REAPPEAR

Boat Goes Out for Plunging Experiments and Is Seen no More

SEARCHERS LOCATE SUNKEN CRAFT

Dragging Apparatus Catches Something at Depth of 130 Feet

BISERTA, Tunis, Oct. 16.—The French submarine Lutin left this port this morning for plunging experiments. Signals received at 10 o'clock tonight reported her disappearance. Two torpedo boats and three tugs have gone out in search of the submarine. No news of her recovery has been received.

Paris, Oct. 16.—M. Thomson, the minister of marine has received an official despatch from the naval commander at Biserta confirming the sinking of the submarine Lutin. The message says: "The submarine Lutin while exercising off the jetties disappeared from view of the accompanying tug. Search dragging operations were begun immediately and resistance was felt at a depth of 130 feet near the place where the Lutin sank."

PRINCESS VICTORIA STRIKES LEWIS ROCK

In Thick Rain Squall, Gulf Ferry Goes Hard and Fast on a Reef---Passengers Are Transferred Without Excitement to the Steamer Rithet, and Landed in City.

STEAMER PRINCESS VICTORIA, Capt. Hickey, which left Vancouver about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, went ashore on Lewis rock, alongside the beacon marking the rock, within sight of Oak Bay, at 7:30 p. m., at low water and remained fast after midnight, although her master expressed himself as confident of floating the steamer soon after high water early this morning.

The steamer was out of her course. The channel usually taken lies between Fiddle Reef, the danger off Oak Bay being marked with a light, and Lewis rock, which is on the edge of the chain of rocks extending further into Baynes passage.

Last night a squall with thick rain was encountered about 7 p. m. and the ferry liner was slowed down to half garding the accident from Oak Bay hotel.

How News Reached the City

Mr. Briggs, sitting in his office at the C. P. R. wharf, had been telling the waiting people at the wharf that the steamer had left late, but would be in soon, when someone overheard him say "Ashore at Oak Bay." Quickly the news was told and the waiting throng scattered, hackmen went away and bus drivers left the dock. F. W. Vincent was sent for and he arrived quickly, as did other officers of the company. The steamer R. P. Rithet, Capt. Hunter, loading freight for New Westminster, was impressed in service and left about 9 p. m. to bring in the passengers.

Meanwhile some friends of one party of passengers, Mr. Oliver and others, went in a launch to bring off Dr. O. M. Jones and party. Those on board the steamer heard the cough of the exhaust of the launch and then a hail: "Is Dr. Jones on board?"

The Sea Was Calm

The sea was calm as the proverbial mill-pond. The kelp floated undisturbed on the surface alongside the stranded vessel. In order to lighten her to make an effort to float the craft at high water the forward ballast tanks, which run longitudinally, were ordered emptied. No. 3 tank on the port side was emptied satisfactorily, but the pumps made no impression on No. 2 tank, just forward of this. The plates there had been speed. She had been making an average of about sixteen knots. The thickly-falling and driving rain made the night black, and the beacon which sits on Lewis rock, a grey, rugged reef little uncovered, was obscured with the result that instead of passing on the starboard side, the Princess Victoria was further out in the passage with the light at a far greater distance than she should have been.

Suddenly the officers saw the danger. The beacon was made out and they rushed to the telegraph to signal the engine room to reverse the engines.

It was too late. With three heavy lumps, as though the vessel had struck one knob of rock and bumped on to another and then another, the liner brought up with a shock with her bow lifted well on Lewis rock.

The passengers had been in a measure prepared for the shock by the sudden vibration of the reversal of the engines.

When the momentum of the steamer stopped as she slid up on the rock some became excited; but these were few. The stranding was marked with little excitement. One or two men went to their staterooms and put on life-preservers; but these promptly hid the life-preservers when they saw that the wearing of them caused excitement. This was the feeling of light-heartedness at misfortune, rather than fear of impending danger.

An Absence of Excitement

As one who had been shipwrecked several times said, "It was the tamest shipwreck I have ever been in."

Some of the Chinese pantrymen came running up the stairs to the main deck, climbing two steps at a time and twirling their queues, but they were met by the steward at the top and promptly hustled back again. One or two firemen, off watch, ran up from below. "What is it—collision?" they asked.

When they found the steamer was sitting up on the rock they went below again. As one said, he went back to finish the story he was reading. One or two women, alarmed by the sight of a couple of men putting on life-preservers, promptly threatened to faint, but the stewardess soon had all calmed and contented.

The scant excitement was short-lived. The lights were turned on outside within a few minutes after the stranding, and when the shipwrecked company saw the black stone pillar on which the white and black painted drum beacon rests standing up within ten yards of the well-lit steamer's side, they laughed at the incongruity of the thing. Then the steward came and told those who had not had dinner that there was food awaiting them in the saloon. Within a few moments the saloon was filled with a gossiping company.

Capt. Hickey did not attempt to float the vessel in any way. When he realized what had happened—and he knew the moment he signalled the engineers to reverse the machinery—Capt. Hickey let the vessel rest. The officers sent to sound reported the vessel dry. He had a boat lowered and in this two men and the purser went ashore to telephone re-

He was, and with his party he was quickly transferred to the launch. No others landed. All were content. Soon Mr. Barker came back and the passengers were notified that the steamer R. P. Rithet was to come from Victoria for them. They went again to their seats, back to the novel they had been reading, or to finish the belated dinner in the dining room.

Rithet Arrives at Wreck

About 10:30 p. m. the R. P. Rithet, Capt. Hunter, arrived at the wreck. The shore lights at Oak Bay were plain and even the street car could be seen making its way from the Oak Bay terminus. The Fiddle Reef light glared nearer at hand, and the well-lit steamer marked the extreme of the channel. "Princess ahoy," sang Capt. Hunter, of the R. P. Rithet. "What side shall we come up on?"

"Come around astern and up on the port side," answered Capt. Hickey.

The R. P. Rithet steamed around, and as she did so the Princess Victoria showed with her bow well up, but no perceptible list to either side. She was upright, her rows of lights drooping at an angle of not more than ten per cent from bow to stern. The forefoot showed plain, the sharp cutaway of the liner's bow having run far up; the stern, waterborne, dropped down until the ports of the dining saloon were awash. The waiting passengers were at the rail. Capt. Hickey stood there with them, wrapped, as was the pilot, Capt. Guinn, in oilskins.

"You're as welcome as the flowers in May," chirruped one of the passengers as the sternwheeler glided alongside the liner.

The Passengers Disembarked

Into the kelp, unalarmed, for the sternwheeler drew seven feet as against the liner's seventeen, the R. P. Rithet slid, and her heaving lines were quickly caught and lines made fast to moor the steamer alongside. Then quickly, Mr. Shepherd, the mail clerk—Mr. Smith had been sent out on the Rithet by the postal authorities to assist him—ran the mail ashore, took all of it for the train with the eastern mail had not connected with the steamer. Then the passengers were transhipped, a gangway being run in at a main deck port. Quietly, as though landing at the wharf handbags in their hands the passengers went on board the R. P. Rithet, and then the crew hurried out the trunks, baggage and express, leaving the freight on board.

Capt. Hickey was seen standing by the rail looking at his passengers leaving the stranded liner.

"Captain—" The reporter had said no more when the captain replied: "I've got nothing whatever to say."

"But captain—" "I've nothing to say."

He had been on the bridge when the steamer struck, having come up but a few minutes before; in fact he went to broken, and the water flowed in. "We're unable to get No. 2 empty, captain," reported one of the officers. "All right," said the captain, resignedly.

"Captain, is the hull injured?" asked the reporter.

"Sure," he replied laconically. "But," he added as an after-thought, "we'll be able to float her at high water in the early morning."

Others were of this opinion. The majority ventured the belief that with assistance the steamer will be soon floated and brought to dock, and the sooner the better for the peace of mind of those interested, as where the steamer lies she is exposed to the fury of a southeaster. In the event of a gale from that quarter the safety of the steamer would be greatly impaired. With average weather, though, it is expected there will not be great difficulty in floating her.

The steamer Salvor of the B. C. Salvage Company, which was notified of the stranding, arrived about midnight from Esquimalt to render assistance, and is lying alongside the stranded steamer. She had not arrived, however, before the R. P. Rithet, with the passengers, baggage, mails and express baggage on board, left for Victoria after 11 p. m. It was 11:45 p. m. when the sternwheeler tied up at the C. P. R. dock, where a number of friends of the passengers were awaiting.

A Day of Mishaps

Yesterday was a day replete with incident in the history of the ferry liner. On her way from Victoria to Vancouver about 7 a. m. she picked up two Japanese in a bad state of exhaustion. The two men, fishermen bound from the Fraser river to Chemainus, had their sloop water-logged during a squall, and the boat was full of water, the mast down and sail dragging when the Princess Victoria came within sight. A boat was lowered and the men were picked up. They were suffering from the effect of the privations endured while their wrecked sloop was drifting from the Sandheads to Point Grey. Warm clothes, stimulants and food were given to the rescued fishermen and they were taken to Vancouver.

At the wharf there was more excitement. A runaway team started pell-mell along the dock and the horses tumbled down a wharf-slip, causing considerable commotion.

The chapter of incidents was not ended there. The steamer, instead of sailing at her usual time, was held for two hours for the delayed train. At 3 p. m. someone ran down to the wharf and shouted that the train "had been ditched or something" near Hastings and not to wait any longer.

Capt. Hickey, however, said he would wait until there was word from the Vancouver harbor, until he got his orders to leave. He got them soon afterward, and the train that the steamer had been waiting two hours for had not connected. Then the ill-fated voyage started, to end by the stranding at Lewis rock. Lewis rock has been marked by a

CHAYTER BLAMES HIS COUNTRYMEN

Captain of U. S. Revenue Cutter Reports on Great Lakes Fishing

ACKNOWLEDGES CANADIAN LENIENCY

Says Americans Have Always Been Given Benefit of Doubt

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 16.—The controversy which has been waged between the American and Canadian lake fishermen has been placed in a different light by a report made to the state department by Capt. E. C. Chayter, commanding the United States revenue cutter Morton of the Great Lakes.

The report shows that the American fishermen have been transgressors and that they have been treated with the greatest consideration by the Canadian fishing patrol.

Some time ago the American state department considered favorably a plan of settling temporarily the vexed question of fishing rights on Lake Erie by placing a series of buoys in the middle of the lake to define the international boundary. The Canadian government conditionally accepted that proposition and Captain Chayter has been instructed to place the buoys. As it was apprehended that honest differences of opinion as to the location of the boundary line might arise from differences of opinion between the logs of the American and Canadian patrol vessels and the use of different charts, Capt. Chayter was instructed to compare notes on the points with Captain Dunn of the patrol boat Vigilant. Under date of October 12th, he reports from Erie that he started from that port on October 8th, accompanied by Capt. Dunn of the Vigilant to place the buoys. He found that there could be no question of difference in the charts because the Canadian vessel was using the American hydrographic charts while the logs exactly corresponded and, in the course of several days, buoys were placed at intervals of five miles.

Captain Chayter adds that the American fishermen crossed the boundary for the reason that there are comparatively few fish south of the line and they are bound to follow the fish. He says that Capt. Dunn, contrary to report, has been lenient towards these fishermen always, giving them the benefit of any doubt as to location and for the past ten years he has observed the international boundary as indicated by the charts. No Canadian fisherman can poach on the American side of the line for the same reasons that the fish are in Canadian waters.

Capt. Chayter says these temporary buoys will be swept away by the ice next winter and should be replaced by permanent buoys lighted at night so as not to endanger navigation.

District Attorney Jerome Intimates There May Be Other Indictments

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 16.—There was a revival of interest today in the case of Harry K. Thaw, charged with the murder of Stanford White, when in court, District Attorney Jerome intimated that there might be other indictments in the case. This intimation was given during an argument before Recorder Goff against the writ of prohibition restraining the district attorney's office from further preliminary action in the grand jury proceedings in the murder case.

Tariff Commission Helps Him to Get Away to By-Election.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—(Special.)—The members of ministry tariff commission are working overtime these days in order to enable Mr. Fielding to get away to Nova Scotia to attend to his by-election. Lengthy sittings were held today and yesterday. Mr. Fielding will leave for Queens-Shelbourne about Friday.

The department of railways and canals is calling for tenders for the construction of a canal from Newmarket to Holland Landing.

A dangerous reef has been discovered at the entrance of Prince Rupert harbor and a lighthouse will be erected immediately.

Lord Durham has sent some 4,000 manuscripts to the archives department. They were the property of his grandfather and throw much light upon the rebellion days of 1837.

A proclamation making effective the revision of the federal statutes will be issued early in November. January will probably be named as the date when they shall go into force.

SIR WILFRID SETS TRAP TO CATCH PREMIER MCBRIDE

But British Columbia Man Skillfully Avoids it Says Mail and Empire

GLOBE OFFERS AN EXPLANATION

Blames Successive Governments for Doing Too Much for the Municipalities.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—(Special).—The Mail and Empire, referring to British Columbia's claims as submitted by Premier McBride at the inter-provincial conference, says: "Premier McBride submitted the claims of British Columbia which are special and which call for serious and sympathetic consideration. These were calmly thrown aside and the province was asked to bind itself to something much below what was just in the premises. Premier McBride promptly declined the offer and left the conference. It is very well understood that the insufficient Laurier proposition was made for political purposes. Had Premier McBride accepted it, Sir Wilfrid would have organized the British Columbia end of his party on a larger subsidy basis and would have striven to defeat Premier McBride on the claim that he had consented to receive too little for the province he represents. The position taken by Sir Wilfrid was a trap to catch Premier McBride and that gentleman skillfully avoided it."

The Globe says: "British Columbia has a vast area over which it is costly to extend and maintain governmental authority. The physical features call for road building, bridge building and many other outlays of a public nature. But in spite of all this the province might easily have met all the cost of local government without federal aid and without burdensome taxation. Her successive governments have undertaken much that should have been left to municipal management and have freely wasted the richest heritage of any of the provinces. The Pacific province is still most richly endowed with natural wealth. Her timber and mineral resources, properly administered, would yield revenue away beyond all reasonable demands of provincial administration. But her public men have preferred to waste this heritage and appeal to the Dominion for aid. Let it be known that the appeal has been heard for the last time."

Montreal, Oct. 17.—The Witness says: The Pacific coast delegate has brought down upon his head the anger of the other provincial statesmen who assumed that Ottawa conference would be a re-affirmation of the Quebec conference favoring a proportionate increase of grant to all members of the provincial sisterhood. This anger will be developed into positive fury if McBride's action causes federal cabinet to leave the subsidy scale as it is. When Sir Wilfrid Laurier was addressing the conference on the subject last Tuesday he made it plain that whatever subsidy increases were proposed they must be accepted as a final settlement of all claims in this connection. Premier McBride had announced in advance that the increase proposed by the other provinces would not be accepted by his province as a final settlement.

NEGROES TAKE REVENGE ON WHITE PEOPLE OF SENECA

Burn the Town in Return For Destruction of Their College

FLAMES GET BEYOND CONTROL

No Fire Fighting Apparatus Is Available and Citizens Make Use of Dynamite.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 17.—A special from Greenville, S. C., says: "As a result of race troubles, Seneca, S. C., is in ashes. The work is claimed to be that of incendiary negroes seeking revenge for the dynamiting of the negro college here last week."

The fire burned rapidly, consuming the entire business section of the town, which has a population of about 2,000. No fire fighting apparatus was available and the citizens were powerless to stop the flames. As a last hope, dynamite was resorted to.

The superintendent of the Seneca cotton mills, who was an eye witness, brought the first news to Greenville. He says it is a matter of common belief that the town was fired by negroes. The fire was under control in about three hours.

Everything is quiet today, although some feeling shown by the negroes. No arrests have been made yet. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

TWENTIETH CENTURY BELONGS TO CANADA

So Says Winnipeg Clergyman in Missionary Convention at Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 17.—At the conclusion of the devotional exercises of the American Missionary society, Rev. Alexander MacMillan, of Winnipeg, Man., delivered an address on the "Change of the Canadian Northwest" and following his stirring appeal a report for the committee on resolutions bearing on the district spoken of was passed. Under this resolution a missionary will be sent to the district to work among the Scandinavian people and the money appropriations will be increased for missionary work in Canada.

In his address, Rev. Mr. MacMillan said: "There is still a great west. It lies north of the 49th parallel, north of the cyclone storm belt, north of the land drought."

The three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, which today may have to deal with, contain 230,000,000 acres of arable land, of which only 6,034,000 acres have as yet been touched by the plow. The remaining 224,000,000 acres are still calling to the settler.

"In all the great territory from Lake Superior to the Pacific coast we have only 16 churches with 675 members. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was right when he said the 19th century was for the United States but the 20th belongs to Canada. No one can estimate her chances. Her chances are also ours. I ask you for $10,000 for Western Canada. I ask for that amount only because I dare not ask for more."

BRITISH SHIPS RUSH TO RESCUE OF LUTIN

Will Assist in Efforts to Raise the French Submarine Boat

VALETTA, Malta, Oct. 17.—The British battleship Implacable, the cruiser Camarvon and the torpedo destroyer Albatross left here at full speed this afternoon for Bizerta with diving gear to assist in saving the French submarine boat Lutin.

Paris, Oct. 17.—The officers on duty at the marine ministry this afternoon said that in their opinion there were practically no hopes of rescuing the crew of the Lutin alive.

RUSH WHEAT TO MARKET.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 17.—The Canadian Pacific railroad wheat marketing report for yesterday shows that 442,000 bushels of wheat and 52,000 bushels of other grains were marketed at Canadian Pacific railroad points. Last year on the corresponding date the figures were 626,000 and 36,000 bushels respectively. To date the quantity of grain marketed is 21,123,000 bushels of wheat and 1,327,000 bushels of other grains. Last year the figures were 16,525,000 and 51,000.

PREMIER WHITNEY MISREPRESENTED

Hon. R. F. Green, Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, yesterday secured information from Ottawa to the effect that Premier Whitney had given an emphatic denial to the statement that during the conference he (Whitney) had given utterance to the expression that Premier McBride was "neither frank nor sincere."

As the proceedings at the conference were absolutely secret except for the official statements authorized to be given to the press, it is, of course, impossible to state the exact remarks which were dropped at the time Premier Whitney is alleged to have used the expression which he now repudiates; but Mr. Green's information is to the effect that Mr. Whitney authorizes an absolute denial of the story that he used any such expression in alluding to Hon. Mr. McBride.

It must be recalled that the Times made much of the expression in question. What amount of reliance may now be placed upon its despatches from Ottawa can be easily computed. Further discrepancies in the Times reports of what actually occurred at Ottawa will no doubt be disclosed on the return of Premier McBride in a few days.

PHILADELPHIANS SEE FAST AND BLOODY GO

Young Corbett and McGovern Mix it Furiously For Six Rounds

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 17.—Terry McGovern and Young Corbett fought a hard six-round bout at the National Athletic Club tonight. When the gong announced the close of the battle there was little to choose between the fighters. No decision was given. The fight was one of the bloodiest ever witnessed here.

When the men appeared in the ring McGovern looked to be in the pink of condition, but Corbett, while he looked well about the face, was several inches too large in the girth. When McGovern climbed into the ring he walked over to Corbett's corner and said: "If you whip me tonight I'll take off my hat to you, but I want you to act square and fair." Corbett smiled and said "All right." When the bout closed Corbett walked over and grasped McGovern's gloved hand and the two smiled and exchanged courtesies. Following is an account of the bout by rounds:

Round 1—They sparred and Corbett jabbed left to face. Corbett was warned for heeling with his glove. It was evident that McGovern was not going to take any chances. McGovern swung right to heart and Corbett shot right to ear. Corbett jabbed left to face and missed right uppercut as the bell rang.

Round 2—Corbett drove right to heart and then floored McGovern with right swing on jaw. McGovern took the count of nine and then hit Corbett over the eye and split it open. Corbett swung left to neck and they clinched at the bell. Corbett's round.

Round 3—McGovern swung left to body and Corbett missed right and left behind when she sailed today. The Canadian mail was due here before the steamer's sailing hour, but the train was late and the mail reached the dock just as the vessel backed out into the stream.

Round 4—They rushed to a clinch and repeated. McGovern swung left to body and rushed Corbett to the ropes but did no harm. Corbett crossed right to jaw and they exchanged lefts to neck. McGovern swung right to body and Corbett left to neck. McGovern swung right to wind and to jaw. Corbett swung left to face and they exchanged rights to body. McGovern put two short rights to body and they clinched. McGovern hooked left to face at bell.

Round 5—They rushed to a clinch. They exchanged swings to jaw and then repeated the punches. Corbett swung right to ear and they clinched. Corbett put straight left to face and uppercut right to chin. McGovern hooked light left to face and Corbett shot right to heart. They exchanged lefts to chin and McGovern swung right to ribs. McGovern sent right to body and Corbett hooked left to jaw. They clinched twice and exchanged jabs to face. Corbett hooked left to jaw and McGovern swung right to ear. Corbett drove to wind and they were sparring when the gong sounded.

Round 6—Corbett hooked left to chin. They exchanged rights to the body and Corbett drove right to the ribs and they clinched. McGovern swung two rights to the head and left to the body. Corbett put two lefts to face and uppercut right to chin. McGovern sent right to wind and they clinched. McGovern sent right to body and jaw and they exchanged lefts to head. McGovern crossed two rights to head and Corbett put light left to wind. Corbett jabbed two lefts to face and they exchanged rights to wind. Corbett hooked right to jaw and McGovern swung two rights to jaw at the bell.

JAPANESE ENCOURAGE ANTI BRITISH HINDUS

Efforts Are Made to Foster Kinship Between Two Dark Races of East

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 17.—The St. Petersburg telegraph agency has received a despatch from Tokio saying that the anti-British movement in India is receiving much encouragement from Japan where every effort is being made to foster a feeling of kinship between the two dark races of the east.

The Buddhists of the two countries are fraternizing and exchanging visits. The Hindu students now in Tokio, the correspondent of the agency continues, have just published an address in which they appeal to India to heed the call of "Asia for the Asians" and to rise and cast off the British yoke. Taking advantage of this Anglophobia foment certain merchants of Japan have sent a mission to India to endeavor to supplant British merchandise for Japanese goods. Their efforts are meeting with a warm welcome.

ON SILVEIRA'S TRAIL.

New York, Oct. 17.—The arrival of the steamer Carmelina at Curacao was reported today by H. B. Chase, a passenger on the steamer Zulia, which arrived here from Curacao. He said that Silveira upon landing at Curacao said he was going to New York, but Mr. Chase learned that he went to Porto Cabello.

MAIL MISSES STEAMER.

New York, Oct. 17.—Seventy-nine sacks of mail from Canadian points which were to have been taken to Europe by the steamer Teutonic were left behind when she sailed today. The Canadian mail was due here before the steamer's sailing hour, but the train was late and the mail reached the dock just as the vessel backed out into the stream.

TRAVIS OUTCLASSES BYERS.

Hamilton, Mass., Oct. 17.—Walter J. Travis, of the Garden City golf club gave Eben M. Byers, of Pittsburg, the national title holder, one of the severest defeats that the latter has sustained in several years, in a thirty-six hole contest at the Myopia hunt club today. Travis led from the start and at the end of the first round was 5 up. Byers steadied in the afternoon play but could not overcome the long lead and Travis ended the contest on the thirteenth, Green, 7 up and 5 to play.

SURPRISES RAILWAY MEN.

U. S. Government Official Springs a Rebate Investigation.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 17.—Subpoenas have been served by the United States marshal on the controllers and heads of the claims departments of the Great Northern railway at Omaha, St. Louis & Minneapolis, and the Wisconsin railroad, directing them to appear before a special grand jury of the United States on Tuesday next with the books and records of their respective departments. This action is said to have been taken as a result of the investigation of an agent of the department of justice of the federal government of the giving of rebates by the railroads of the Northwest in connection with shipments of freight. The serving of subpoenas created something of a sensation in railroad circles.

LAWYERS OBSTRUCT INQUEST.

Raise Many Objections at Inquiry Into Cause of Warner's Death.

Buckingham, Quebec, Oct. 17.—Obstruction tactics by lawyers representing the interests of the strikers blocked progress in the inquest into the cause of the death of the late Detective Warner, which opened here today. At the close of the morning session only three witnesses had been called. Objections raised by C. Marchal occupied the greater part of the time. Crown Prosecutor Guerin, who on behalf of the coroner is conducting the examination of witnesses, ruled adversely on most of the points raised.

ONTARIO BANK WRECKER IS PLACED UNDER ARREST

Quietly Remarks That He Is Ready to Bear Penalty For His Error

CHANCES FOR THE SHAREHOLDERS

Assets Promise to Yield Sixty or Seventy Cents on the Dollar.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 17.—On a warrant issued by the Ontario Government, McGill, late general manager of the Ontario Bank, was arrested at 2:15 this afternoon by Detective MacKay, at his room in the King Edward Hotel. He is charged with making false entries during the past two years. He took his arrest quietly, remarking that he was ready to bear the penalty for what he had done.

A statement was made yesterday that the assets of the Ontario Bank will probably realize more than 60 or 70 cents on the dollar for the shareholders. It will be at least two weeks before anything definite is known as to losses sustained by the bank.

A summons has also been issued against President Cockburn of the Ontario bank.

HINDUS TAKE PLACES OF CHINESE STRIKERS

But Wellington Coal Company Finds Them Unfit For Its Work

CUMBERLAND, Oct. 17.—(Special).—The Chinese employed by the Wellington Coal company at its Union Bay loading wharf made a demand last Friday for a raise in wages. This was refused and the Chinamen went on strike. They were replaced by Hindu labor but the Hindus proved unsatisfactory and as a result the demands of the Chinamen were acceded to and they were put back to work.

PREPARE TO REOPEN COURTENAY INDUSTRY

J. Bryden and D. Kilpatrick Purchase Old Mill From J. Urquhart

NANAIMO, Oct. 17.—(Special).—J. Bryden and D. Kilpatrick have purchased the old saw mill owned by John Urquhart at Courtenay which has been idle for about four years. The new firm will remodel the mill with up-to-date machinery and will commence operations as soon as this is done. The capacity of the mill at commencement of operations is to be 40,000 feet per day and this will be increased materially when further equipment can be added. The new company has very extensive timber limps at its disposal. Cumberland people feel jubilant at the re-opening of this industry which they say means much to their town.

With the passing to its new owners the Nanaimo Lumber company changes its name. Hereafter it will be known by the name of R. F. Lumber company. The new company has extensive alterations to its plant in contemplation, but it may not be until the new year that they will be placed into effect.

The fall assize court opens here tomorrow. Deputy Attorney General McLean, of Victoria, will be crown prosecutor. The principal case on the docket is that of Robert Featherstone, charged with the murder of Mary Jane Dalton. Col. Gregory, of Victoria, will defend the prisoner.

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 17.—A note of warning, sounded by Rev. Dr. Lyle in advising the National Council of Women of Canada, who are in session here, to steer clear of politics for all time to come, probably had some effect on the question of political equality. Last week a motion was adopted favoring the appointment of a standing committee on political equality but yesterday this was rescinded. The quinquennial convention in 1909 will be held at Toronto.

RESCUES SIX PEOPLE NEAR NIAGARA'S EDGE

Albert Greenwood Saves Lives of Members of Launch Party

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 16.—A disabled launch containing a party of six men and women was swept into the rapids and within half a mile of the brink of the falls late last night. They were saved from a plunge over the cataract by Albert Greenwood of Chippewa, Ont., who brought them ashore in his launch.

The party consisted of Charles B. Lentz and Mrs. Lentz, Mrs. Charles Clapham and her daughter Nellie, C. W. Clendenan and Engineer James Herschell. Capt. Lentz lost his bearings in the dark and struck a bar near the foot of Buckhorn island, sunning the launch's rudder and leaving the little boat helpless. The first anchor chain snapped and the boat started down the river in a seventeen mile current. The second anchor dragged along the bottom of the river for some time, the occupants of the boat frantically calling for help. Nothing could be done for them. The second anchor finally caught on a ledge near the Canadian shore and within the sound of the falls.

Captain Lentz attracted attention from shore by using the launch's flashlight. Word was sent to Albert Greenwood, owner of a small steam launch. Greenwood volunteered to attempt a rescue. He made two trips through the dangerous channels and brought the party safely ashore.

BROOM MAKERS STRIKE.

Union Employees of Amsterdam, N.Y., Factories Quit Work.

Amsterdam, N. Y., Oct. 15.—The factories of the Amsterdam, Gardner and the Pioneer Broom companies of this city and that of the Mohawk Valley Broom company of Ponda are closed down because of a strike. The strikers embrace several hundred men, all unionists. Last week the American Broom and Brush company here advanced the wages of its employees, who are non-unionists. The union men in the other factories forthwith demanded an increase in wages of from 12 1/2 to 20 per cent, which is greater than that granted the non-union men. This has been refused. The American company now has advanced the price of brooms 25 cents a dozen.

Victoria was chosen as the next meeting place of the conference, providing suitable transportation for the delegates can be arranged for.

New Industry

What promises to be one of the leading industries and one of the best advertisements of the riches of Comox valley is the gathering of barberry bark (medicinally cascara sagrada). Since the failure of the year's crop of this useful remedy in the state of Washington, which has hitherto supplied thousands of tons per annum, botanists have had to look to new fields for this drug. Comox valley abounds with barberry bark, and already several parties are gathering this staple article. An American wholesale drug company has now a number of men engaged in stripping the trees in that section. Last Friday Mr. Hartman of Chehalis, Wash., purchased sixteen tons of the bark, all of which will be shipped to London and New York. As there is practically an inexhaustible supply in the northern part of the island and with the rapid increase in price, which has trebled in two months owing to the failure of the Washington crop, many residents of Comox district are devoting their entire time to gathering the bark as a means of livelihood.

Merchant Held Up

For the first time in ten years Nanaimo was the scene of a hold-up on Sunday. A well known merchant of Commercial street, who does not care to have his name published, was the victim. He was returning home shortly after 9 o'clock when a gruff voice called "Hands up!" In doing so, however, the business man shot his hands straight into his assailant's face, knocking him down. The highwayman was reinforced by a companion, who attempted to aid his friend. The merchant made good his escape and reached his residence without further molestation.

New Company's Plans

The Nanaimo sawmill with its magnificent timber limits has finally passed into the hands of a powerful Winnipeg syndicate, the new management assuming control of the plant Monday morning. Interviewed regarding the plans of the company, Mr. Savage, one of the owners, stated that it will take a month or more before plans are formulated. It can be stated authentically, however, that the company intend to vastly improve the present plant, double its capacity and make it one of the finest mills on the Pacific Coast.

Arranging for Bout

It is now probable that Robert Williams, athletic instructor for the local athletic club, and Rufe Turner, the well known pugilist, will be matched for a prize fight here shortly. While in Vancouver on Monday Williams met Turner and practically closed negotiations for the bout. Should this match be arranged it will prove to be one of the biggest drawing cards in sporting circles witnessed here.

Losses Faith in Reporters

J. H. Hawthornthwaite, M. P., is back from the Socialist convention at Nelson. Asked why press representatives were excluded from the meeting, Mr. Hawthornthwaite said: "We have found that on almost every occasion on which the press, or certain sections of it, have said anything about us they have wilfully misrepresented us. Personally I am seldom, if ever, correctly quoted in newspapers, and have got so now that I don't take the trouble to deny the numerous assertions with which I am credited."

Fighters Sign Articles

It is learned on good authority that the Marble Bay mines have paid for themselves, $150,000 worth of development work and equipment, and paid out over $200,000 in dividends.

DISMISSED BY OTTAWA COUNCIL.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—By a vote of 13 to 8 the city council last night dismissed the building inspector, Pratt, for neglecting to protect the public by not insisting that the dangerous walls of Gilmour hotel be torn down.

By a vote of 13 to 10 the council rejected a motion to dismiss City Auditor Cluff, owner of the building, who, it is alleged, influenced Pratt. The latter, who is also assessment commissioner has been in the employ of the city for thirty-two years.

"CUPID IN POSTERLAND."

Much Interest Aroused in Forthcoming Entertainment by Amateurs.

The Woman's Auxiliary of Royal Jubilee hospital now feel assured that the Victoria theatre will be completely filled on the occasion of the "Cupid in Posterland" presentations, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 25th and 26th.

The ladies are very badly in need of funds for some special purposes and the results of these performances will undoubtedly be of much benefit to Victoria's principal charity. However, it is also assured that in the performances themselves, Victoria's amusement seekers are to be offered something extremely interesting and of a quaint, catchy nature that is sure to prove of universal interest.

It has been decided not to solicit the sale of tickets.

It is evident that the demand for seats is going to be unusually large, so instead of selling tickets exchangeable at the box office for preferred positions as usual, everyone will be given an equal opportunity and seats will be sold only at the theatre box office, sale to open Tuesday, Oct. 23rd, at 10 a. m., first come, first served. The lower floor has been placed at $1.00 and 75 cents for the last 4 rows. Balcony, $1.00, 75 and 50 cents. Box seats, $1.50; entire box, $10.00.

BABY BOY WITNESS

IMPRESSES COURT

Tells How and Where His Mother, Mrs. Taylor, Was Assaulted

In the police court yesterday morning a little boy, four years old, was a witness, and a good witness. The case on trial was that in which William Bickford, of Langford plains, was accused of assault in having, it was alleged, roughly handled Mrs. Taylor in ousting her from a portion of his estate leased to the Victoria Gun Club. Permission had been given to the Taylors by a member of the gun club to graze cows on the grounds leased from Bickford for the club shoots. Bickford objected to the cows being there and drove them out. Mrs. Taylor drove them on to the pasture again and Bickford is accused of using strong language, striking her and shoving her roughly from the place. These things were told by several witnesses, the Taylors, a young girl and the little Taylor boy.

The little fellow hardly reached to the rail of the witness box, but he gave straightforward evidence. He went with "Lovely"—as he called his sister—and saw that man, mauling Bickford, punch his mother with his fist.

"Do you know what a fist is, my boy?" asked the magistrate.

"That's a fist," replied the four-year-old, clenching his fist shut and raising it as high as he could.

The tale was straightforwardly told, and the counsel for the defence started to cross-examine him.

"Where did this take place?" asked counsel.

The answer was childlike, indeed. "It was down by the oak tree where the bumble bee stung me," lisped the child.

That was enough. The magistrate, after further evidence was heard, convicted the accused and fined him $10 with $7.50 costs.

In the police court yesterday morning, H. Mansell, a recent arrival, was accused of obtaining board and lodging by false pretences. The proprietor of the Queen's hotel, who was the complainant, gave evidence that accused had arrived without bag or baggage and he had asked him to pay $1.25 in advance for the first day. Afterward he had not seen accused, but learned from his son that he was still at the hotel. Four days later he asked for payment of the bill, and accused said he was expecting money that evening from Crystal City, Manitoba. He left the hotel to go to the postoffice to get the letter with the remittance, but did not come back. Later the hotel man met him on the street and on the accused failing to "come up with the coin" the police were called in.

Magistrate Hall held that while the complainant might have a civil action against accused the action as stated in evidence did not constitute false pretences, as the accused had made no bargain in advance to pay him.

BYLAW TO REGULATE SPEED OF AUTOS

An Important Measure to Be Introduced at Next Meeting of City Council

At the meeting of the city council on Monday evening next a bylaw will be introduced to regulate locomotive engines, motors and other vehicles and to regulate traffic and prevent nuisances. The main object of the bylaw, however, will be to regulate the speed of automobiles. The measure will provide that no person, whether resident within the city or not, shall drive or act as driver of a motor vehicle without having registered his name with the city collector, the fee for which will be $2, and in return the driver will receive a numbered badge which will be worn by the driver while driving on the front part of his headgear. No person under the age of 18 shall act or be entitled to register as a driver.

"Every person applying for registration must produce a certificate from the owner and some resident electrical engineer to the effect that the person has given satisfactory proof of his ability to drive a machine and shall also satisfy the chief of police of his ability to drive."

"Every person driving a machine through the streets must stop immediately on the demand of a policeman."

"In the principal thoroughfares of the city the rate of speed of the motor vehicles shall not be more than six miles an hour and at corners or sharp turns the speed must be reduced to three miles an hour, and when at a distance of twenty yards from a corner the driver shall sound two blasts of the horn, whistle, bell or other sound-making contrivance."

"No owner or driver of a machine shall leave it standing in the streets in such a condition that the motive power may be set in motion by mischievous persons. Any person driving a machine in the streets of the city without the authority of the owner shall be deemed guilty of an infraction of the bylaw."

"Whenever a registered driver has been convicted of an offence against this or any other bylaw referring to the Motor Speed Regulation Act, the justice or magistrate may direct the cancellation or suspension of the registration and may direct the driver to return his badge to the city collector for cancellation or suspension."

"The owner of every motor vehicle used for hire shall at all times observe and be bound by the provisions of this bylaw."

"Every owner of a motor vehicle kept for hire shall pay to the corporation a tax of $2.50 for every six months for every vehicle kept for hire; but where more than four machines are owned and kept for hire by the keeper of a garage, the business license tax payable by such garage shall not be collected."

"The city council may from time to time authorize the city engineer to prohibit the passing of motor vehicles of the locomotive or traction engine class or other similar heavy engines during certain hours of the day over any of the streets of the city. This can only be done by resolution of the council, which resolution shall also prescribe the streets over which the heavy machines may pass."

"No alarm, bell, gong, horn or whistle attached to a motor vehicle shall be used unless previously approved by the chief of police and no one shall use any such contrivance in a noisy or offensive manner or without reasonable occasion, or so to cause material annoyance to the residents of the city. The bylaw also provides that the left side of the street shall be kept during the passage through the streets and particularly when rounding corners. When overtaking a vehicle the passing shall be made on the right side of such vehicle."

"Any person committing an offence against any provision of this bylaw shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding $200 and for a second conviction to a fine not exceeding $400 and for a third offence the fine shall not be less than $100 nor more than $800 and the drivers registration certificate suspended for three months; and convictions elsewhere in British Columbia for offences against sections 7, 8, 9 and 10 of the Motor Vehicle Speed Regulation Act shall be considered as equivalent to convictions in this city."

MUST SUPPLY GAS.

Albany, N. The contention of the gas company was that inasmuch as the constitutional act of the so-called 80-cent gas act, passed by the last legislature, was before the federal courts the supreme courts of this state had no jurisdiction.

PRINCESS VICTORIA FLOATED FROM REEF

Stranded Ferry Liner Hauled Off Lewis Rock About Noon Yesterday

PROCEEDED TO ESQUIMALT FOR REPAIRS

Will Be Placed on Marine Ways Today to Ascertain Extent of Damage

Through the united efforts of the B. C. Salvage company's steamer Salvor, the tug Lorne and the R. P. Rithet, the Princess Victoria, which stranded on Lewis rock at 7:30 Tuesday evening, was floated at 12:45 yesterday afternoon, one hour before flood tide.

Under her own steam, and without any trouble, the damaged steamer proceeded to Esquimalt and moored at the Esquimalt Marine Railway dock where she will be hauled out today to be surveyed and repaired.

The extent of her injuries was not ascertained, nor will it be fully known until the steamer is taken from the water; but it is known that some of the plates, at least, have been penetrated. The pumps have failed to reduce the water in No. 2 ballast tank on the port side which indicates damage to the hull under that tank. Others dried satisfactorily, and in no place did water penetrate into the holds.

The Princess Victoria is so built that with the arrangement of watertight compartments and various bulkheads, seven in all, she is practically unsinkable. There might be serious injury to the plates of the hull as a result of the impact and the subsequent holding on the rock as well as the work of salvage, and yet the steamer could still be free from water.

Lloyd's surveyor will investigate the damage and specifications for the necessary repairs, the cost of which will be borne by the underwriters, will be drawn up without delay. The steamer is fully covered by insurance placed with Lloyd's.

At high water early yesterday morning, when there was a rise of seven feet one inch, the first efforts to float the stranded ship were made. The Salvor, on arrival from Esquimalt, put lines on board and pulled by the stern. There was a severe strain, the salvage steamer using every ounce of steam power to endeavor to float the stranded gulf ferry. The Princess Victoria was moved slightly, and it seemed that the efforts would be successful when the line parted. This was a large steel hawser of special construction, and when it parted, work had, of necessity, to be discontinued. Before anything further could be accomplished, the tide had commenced to ebb and there was a long run out until 7 a. m. The steamer continued to rest easily, however, and although the stern, which was water-borne throughout, was swung out so that instead of being broadside to Oak Bay she presented her bow to the watchers who went there yesterday morning. A fresh southeast wind sprang up soon after dawn, but the steamer was not greatly exposed to wind from this direction—her safety would have been impaired by a strong southeast wind. The tides are, fortunately, heavy at the present time, there being a rise of seven feet nine inches when the tide was at flood about 2 p. m. yesterday. The tides are heavier until Saturday than for weeks; they fall off again after Saturday. The tug Lorne was added to the salvage vessels yesterday morning and the powerful tug also placed a line on the steamer by the stern. The Salvor had sent a new hawser on board, and the preparations were all made in time to take advantage of the rising water. As the tide began to flood, the wind maintaining fresh from the southwest, the steamers put a strain on the stranded vessel. Slowly, but perceptibly, they began to slide the vessel from the rock, and at 12:45 p. m., an hour and a quarter before full flood tide, the salvage work was successful. The engineers who had been at their posts heard the welcome signal for full steam and in a short space the liner was steaming on her way to Esquimalt, where she arrived shortly after 2 o'clock, and berthed at the Esquimalt Marine Railway Company's wharf.

Arrangements were made to have the steamer lifted on the cradle this morning, and no delay will result in hurrying forward the repair work, whatever is necessary, to have her in commission again as soon as practicable. In the meantime the Charmer is being made ready to replace the damaged gulf ferry. She left at 1 a. m.

The payment of salvage will be apportioned by Lloyd's under the salvage agreement into which the B. C. Salvage Company has entered. In allotting the money these things are taken into consideration—the value of the steamer salvaged, the conditions under which the work was done, and value of the salvage plant used in the work, expense of the work and injuries, if any, sustained in the work to the salvage plant.

To many the name of Princess Victoria is regarded as an unlucky one. Sailors are superstitious in these matters, and it has been a common belief among many shipmasters and others of the waterfront that the name of the crack ferry liner is an ill-omened one. What foundation there is for this belief the superstitious ones do not say, beyond pointing to the fact of many accidents to vessels known as the Victoria.

Robber Bold Uses German Soldiers to Help Him in His Work.

Berlin, Oct. 17.—An unique and daring robbery was committed at Copenick, a small town seven miles east of Berlin, yesterday. The robber, in the uniform of a captain of the guards, met a detachment of twelve men on a street in Berlin who were returning from target practice. He produced a forged cabinet order authorizing him to take command. The men recognized his authority, and he then ordered them to march to Copenick. Upon arrival there they proceeded to the town hall, arrested the burgomaster and took possession of the cash, $1,000. The robber dispatched several of his men to conduct the prisoners to headquarters. He ordered the remainder to hold the town hall for an hour. He then rode off alone in the direction of Berlin with the money.

The burgomaster and town treasurer were greatly mystified at the meaning of their arrest. Upon their arrival in custody at headquarters in Berlin they learned that the ostensible captain was a fraud, and were immediately discharged. The bogus captain has not been heard from, and the police and military authorities are without any clue whatever as to his identity.

WILL DISCUSS WATER AND LICENSE BYLAWS

Special Meeting of the Council Summoned For Tomorrow Evening

There will be a special meeting of the city council tomorrow evening for the purpose of discussing the water works improvement by-law as submitted by Mayor Morley. At the last meeting His Worship was very anxious that a meeting should be held to deal with the matter and urged the council not to delay a day in submitting the by-law to the ratepayers. He pointed out that special meetings had been held to discuss the by-law submitted by the water committee and asked to have the same privilege extended to him. The council was unanimous on this matter and it was agreed that the meeting should be held.

At the meeting tomorrow evening the Mayor will submit the by-law to borrow the sum of $300,000. It is the intention of His Worship to utilize $125,000 for redistribution, $99,000 for extending the 24-inch main to Elk lake, $17,000 for cleaning the lake, $15,000 for a tank on the high levels, $15,000 and $9,500 for surveys of Highland and Sooke districts respectively, and $5,000 for contingencies, bringing the total up to the amount stated above.

It is expected that the aldermen will not put any obstacle in the way of the by-law passing. Reference is expected to be made to the supposed new reservoir that has been discovered by T. W. Peterson and which His Worship intends to have surveyed. The aldermen have practically agreed to allow the by-law to pass no matter what turns up and thus give the ratepayers an opportunity to express their opinion at the polls. The recent announcement that alum is being used in the lake to kill the vegetable matter and abate the perfume caused by the decayed matter has caused many who were previously in favor of Elk lake to alter their opinion as to the advisability of taking water from that source.

It is the intention of His Worship to call a public meeting as soon as the by-law has passed the council. At this meeting it is expected that His Worship and the members of the water works committee will all have an opportunity to lay their views before the ratepayers, and it is likely that the gathering will be a very animated one.

Another important measure that will come before the council for consideration tomorrow evening will be the proposed liquor license by-law. This measure has been before the board on two occasions, but as yet it has not got beyond the first reading. The by-law is a very lengthy document and it is likely that the session will be a lengthy one.

WOMEN GATHER.

Thousands Will Talk Temperance in Convention at Boston.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 17.—From far away Japan and Australia and more than fifty countries in both the eastern and western hemispheres thousands of women interested in temperance reform have come to this city to participate in the triennial world's convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union which opened here today. The convention will close on Sunday night. One of the features of the convention will be a "Welcome Banquet" to be held this evening.

There will be meetings devoted to the Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the Loyal Temperance Legion and the "White Ribbon" missionaries. It was arranged that today should be observed as "Devotional Day." Beginning with a service at the Park Street church conducted by Miss E. W. Greenwood, of Brooklyn, N. Y., superintendent of the department of Evangelistic work for the World's W. C. T. U. The convention proper will open tomorrow when the delegates will be welcomed by Governor Gould and Mayor Fitzgerald.

CANADIAN FLOUR IN DEMAND IN JAPAN

Will at an Early Date Command the Market of That Country

Appropos of the recent memorable speech delivered by Earl Grey at the Canadian Club banquet at Vancouver regarding the awakening of the Orient and the great trade which would flow to British Columbia ports from that circumstance, it is to be mentioned that S. Tamura, one of the most prominent Japanese in Canada, announces that "Canadian flour is rapidly gaining a foothold in the Japanese market and there has been a large increase in the quantity exported during the past year."

Mr. Tamura was a passenger on the Empress of Japan from Oriental ports, where he has spent the last three years. He has interests in Kobe, Tokyo and Hokkaido and exports from Canada flour, lumber, salted salmon and canned salmon. He first introduced the Canadian flour on the Japanese market and has done more than any other man to work up trade between Canada and Japan and although he has had much to contend with he says that results have been very satisfactory, which is shown by the numerous shipments of flour and lumber which have been forwarded from Canada to Japan. Canadian flour was first placed on the market in Osaka, Japan, three years ago, and according to Mr. Tamura it is rapidly replacing the American product throughout Japan.

"Of course," said Mr. Tamura, in an interview, "we have been put to considerable expense in endeavoring to introduce Canadian flour in Japan. We have to show the dealers there what benefit there is to be derived in using Canadian flour. As a matter of fact, in order to make it plain to some, we have had to give demonstrations, and on several occasions have sent expert bakers to different parts of the country giving demonstrations. This has all been done at our expense, but the shipments sent to Japan during the past year will show you that our work has not been in vain. Many large firms have placed their orders with us and they will be filled and sent out on the Oriental liners sailing from British Columbia. However, American flour is also used extensively in Japan. The Americans offer better inducements, the prices asked are lower than what is asked for Canadian flour. The latter flour is also darker in color than the American flour. These are the chief reasons why it is so difficult to introduce the Canadian flour. Some of the Canadian firms are very good and have done much in assisting me, and I feel satisfied that in the near future Canadian millers will command the Japanese market."

Regarding lumber, Mr. Tamura stated that several large shipments had been sent from British Columbia to Japan. In previous years all large orders were placed with the American mills, but only two orders were sent to the Americans this year. The great difficulty experienced in this line, according to Mr. Tamura, is the fact that some of the local mills are unable to fill the orders as expeditiously as the Americans, and it is due to this fact that many orders are sent to Tacoma and other Sound cities. Mr. Tamura stated that when his firm received orders an effort was always made to have them filled in Canada.

Mr. Tamura states that the wheat crop in Japan was exceptionally good this year, while the rice crop was also better than last year.

Mr. Tamura is a pioneer resident of Vancouver. He went to that city in 1888 and opened the Sun Ban, which was the only store in the city for many years where Japanese goods could be secured. Four years ago he launched out into the exporting and importing business and is today one of the most prominent business men in Japan.

A few years ago he was appointed by the Dominion government to assist the Canadian exhibition commissioner at the big exposition held at Osaka, Japan, and he has in many ways accomplished much good in furthering the interests of Canada in the land of the Mikado.

ORGANIZE CHAPTER ST. ANDREW'S BROTHERHOOD

Meeting to Be Held This Evening

---A Sermon by Rev. A. J. Stanley Ard

A meeting is to be held this evening for the purpose of organizing a chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in connection with St. John's Church. This organization has proved everywhere a powerful agency for good. There is one chapter connected with Christ Church Cathedral, and it is doing excellent work. It is especially a men's organization for the social and moral advantage of men. On Sunday last Rev. A. J. Stanley Ard preached a very forceful sermon on the necessity for consistent and persistent action along these lines, and the following is a summary of it:

"But when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted and were scattered abroad as sheep having no shepherd. Then said he unto his disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that he will send forth laborers into his harvest."—Matt. ix, 36-38.

What a magnificent view of the world our Lord here presents to us. He is no pessimist, but rather an optimist of the highest order—while on the one hand he is moved with compassion for the people, and now the harvest was ready to be gathered into the Kingdom of God; but, alas! "the laborers are few." If our Lord had stopped at these words, if he had given us a picture of a glorious harvest with a scarcity of labor, his picture would have been one of hopelessness; but he did not, for the words which follow are full of hope and encouragement. They light up a picture which would otherwise have been one of gloom. "Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that he will send forth laborers into his harvest." What significant words. The testimony of centuries witness to their truth. It is by prayer and labor alone that great ends can be attained. There are some people who have noble ideals and they set to work to try to bring them about, but they fail simply because they neglected the one great source of strength, while there are others who talk about them but who never help to bring them about. God never gives to any man great and high and holy ideals unless he means that man to be an instrument through which those ideals may become realities.

The men of this congregation, and especially the young men, have been asked to meet in the guild room next Wednesday evening to discuss the advisability of forming a chapter of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood. I want to say something to you this evening about that institution. I want you to understand something about the brotherhood. In the first place it is no mere social institution. It is an active, living organization.

On St. Andrew's Day, 1853, twelve

young men belonging to the Bible class of St. James' Church, Chicago, felt that much might be done to advance the Kingdom of God if they, like St. Andrew of old, would try each week to bring some brother nearer to Christ. St. Andrew, you will remember, when he heard that Messiah was come, went first to his own brother Simon and brought him to Jesus. It was his example that they purposed to follow. My brothers, what I am going to say to you I say, not because I want to fill up a sermon, but as a message from God to you. Have you got a brother, or a father, or a son? Where is he tonight? Would it not be a great joy to you if, when you come to church on Sundays, you could bring him along with you? Where are your brethren who work alongside of you in your daily business or who share your sports and pastimes? Can you do nothing for them, or is it that you don't want to? At the entrance to this church there is a font; you were brought to that font, or one like it, and there received into the church, with these words: "We receive this child into the congregation of Christ's flock, and do sign him with the sign of the cross in token that hereafter he shall never be ashamed to confess the faith of Christ manifestly to the sight of all men, against sin, the world, and the devil; and to continue Christ's faithful soldier and servant unto his life's end." Faithful soldier and servant of Christ, where are your fellow men? They are scattered as sheep having no shepherd. Ah, my brothers, there stretches out before us a great harvest field, but the laborers are few. Is the work to be left simply to your rector and myself? If so, then the harvest home will be but a poor one. There are young men coming into our city daily; most of them have come from good homes; they have come with the firm purpose of doing what is right; they know no other way of life; they are full of them; he looks them up; but then they find they probably go to church; nobody takes any notice of them there. Presently they get employment, perhaps beside you. Nothing is ever said to them about religion, and little by little they drift into that careless indifference commonly spoken of as the "way of the world." If the clergyman happens to come across one or hear of them he looks them up; but then that is his business, at least so they may argue with themselves, they grow to feel that nobody really cares whether they go to church or not, and soon "the world, the flesh and the devil" have excellent ground wherein to sow a plentiful crop of tares. Think for a moment what a different picture would be presented if in the first place these young men could be called upon, and if out, a brotherhood card left for them with the name of the church and a list of services printed on it. They would at least think that somebody cared, that someone was thinking about them. And then on Sunday how different it would be if a brotherhood man gave them a welcome at the church, put them in a seat, supplied them with books if they had not got them, and on leaving the church inquired their names and addresses and asked permission to call upon them. Do you think they would go away with the idea that nobody cared for them? During the week a brotherhood man might call upon them, invite them to the brotherhood class, and introduce them to other men. Oh, my brothers, if you could only see your way to forming a branch of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood and do this work, the Church of Christ would reap a glorious harvest. Let me put it to you plainly. Through me, Christ, our Captain, sends a direct message to every man in this church this evening, and the message is this: "The harvest of men is truly plenteous, but the laborers are few. Pray ye, therefore, the Lord of the harvest that he will send forth laborers into his harvest, and, having prayed, offer yourself. Come to the meeting on Wednesday evening, and join with your fellow men the St. Andrew's Brotherhood and thereby pledge yourselves to obey two simple rules—(1) that you will pray daily for the spread of Christ's kingdom among men, especially young men; and (2) that you will endeavor to do something each week to bring some man nearer to Christ through His church. If only, my brothers, you will do this, I feel perfectly sure you will realize more and more what a privilege it is to be fellow workers with Christ and soldiers, not in barracks, but actively engaged in the battle of the cross against the world, the flesh and the devil.

IMPORTED BIRDS LIBERATED.

A Shipment From Denmark of Capercaillie and Black Game.

The members of the Vancouver Island Fish and Game club are elated at the success of the venture of importing a shipment of capercaillie and black game from Denmark. On Friday last thirty-four of the birds arrived in Victoria and were taken charge of by J. Musgrave, secretary of the club, it being found that there were twenty black game and fourteen capercaillie.

Ten of the black game were sent to the ranch of G. Payne, Saturnia island, almost immediately, and on Saturday afternoon the same number of that species were taken by the line and placed in charge of W. H. Hayward to be liberated on his property near Quamichan lake.

The capercaillie were shipped to Cowichan Lake district and liberated in the neighborhood of L. Mole's farm. These surroundings, it was agreed, were as near to what the capercaillie have been accustomed as could be found on the island.

54,600 MEALS DID HIM NO GOOD

How one Man Wasted 50 Years of His Life—Thousands Like Him.

"What's the use of eating, anyhow?" said the scrawny dyspeptic to his round, prosperous-looking friend. "Here I've been eating three times a day, and sometimes twice a day, for 50 years, and look at me! Thin as a rake and skinny, still at the bottom of the ladder, sour on the world, and a pessimist. I know it, and I can't help it. If I had it to do over again, though, I would take care of my stomach, for I don't believe I ever polished a meal in my life, not even on a Christmas dinner, and I firmly believe that my way of eating, or whatever it was, brought me up to this darkness and impossibility of success."

"You're right," nodded his companion. "Of course, that is so. Always the case. But in this age we must not only feast in the Lord and keep our powder dry, but we must swallow sunshine with our food. Cheerfulness, especially while eating, which is the best essential part of a meal, is as necessary to him as strength. I would take care of my stomach, for I don't believe I ever polished a meal in my life, not even on a Christmas dinner, and I firmly believe that my way of eating, or whatever it was, brought me up to this darkness and impossibility of success."

"But think of what you haven't been doing, man. Remember, your brain and your body to treat them accordingly. Why not start now and repair the damage you've done. You mean at my age? And suppose you can't always get sunshine?"

"Absolutely, yes. Sunshine has made it possible to get the sunshine in the health and the strength that your stomach needs, all put up together in little tablets. They are the most effective tablets in the world for this very thing. One ingredient in these tablets digests 3,000 grains of food with the help of the stomach. Two tablets work and better work in more work, and let me introduce you to one little package of these St. Andrew's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating. That's the sunshine I was talking about. Then your face will reflect the internal change going on, you'll be more energetic, your mind will be clearer, you will have more confidence in yourself, you'll be happier, and you'll be yourself again."

"Your heart will change and you'll feel rose. You'll enjoy your meals and live. Let's walk down to the drug store and let me introduce you to one little package of these St. Andrew's Dyspepsia Tablets. You can get them at any drug store in the world for only 50c a package. It's worth it, Mr. Dyspeptic."

WILL AGAIN PROTEST AGAINST SOUND BOAT

Board of Trade Dissatisfied With Reply of C. P. R. to First Complaint

The council of the board of trade held a special meeting yesterday morning to consider the matter of an improved steamer service to the Sound during the winter months. At the quarterly general meeting of the board last week it was authorized that a telegram be sent to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, in his capacity as president of the C. P. R., strongly protesting against the C. P. R. withdrawing a steamer during the winter months, and allowing a rival American company to have a monopoly. The telegram stated that in the event of the C. P. R. resuming the continuous service, the board proposed urging a mail subsidy, payable to the C. P. R. Company. To the board's telegram the following reply had been received:

Montreal, Oct. 13, 1906.
F. Elworthy, Secretary Board of Trade, Victoria.

Approved: the sentiment that gives preference to Canadian Pacific boats, but to maintain double service during the winter months would involve large loss. Capt. Troup informs me that Indianapolis, the boat that will run opposite ours, is good and seaworthy.

T. G. SHAUGHNESSY.

The members were disappointed at the tone of the reply and there was considerable adverse comment. The members of the council were of the opinion that the C. P. R. is not treating the citizens right, in throwing them into the hands of a hostile company. The anti-Indianapolis resolution, which was a strong resolution to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, asking him to favorably reconsider his decision, and another telegram was ordered to be sent to Capt. Troup expressing regret, and asking him to make plain to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy that the citizens of Victoria are fully justified in making their complaint against the Indianapolis.

The only other matter up before the council was the following resolution which had been received from the Halifax Board of Trade:

Whereas, it has been the invariable custom during the winter season for the steamers to land and embark the Canadian mails at Halifax, as being the nearest available port affording the quickest rail connection to Canada;

And whereas, a proposal has been made to change that arrangement by landing the weekly mails alternately at Halifax and St. John;

And whereas, the effect of landing the mails at St. John would be:

1. That the province of Nova Scotia, including Cape Breton, the province of Prince Edward Island, and Newfoundland, would receive their mails at least 24 hours later than if they were landed at Halifax.
2. That the rest of Canada would receive their mails from 8 to 24 hours later than if they were landed at Halifax.

Therefore, resolved, that this board most emphatically protests against a change which would seriously affect the efficiency of a service which even now is much below the requirements of Canada; and which, owing to the delay involved in the proposed change, would have a most injurious effect on the business interests of the whole country.

Further resolved, that copies of this resolution be sent:

1. To the boards of trade throughout Canada, for their support and cooperation in the interests of a prompt and efficient mail service.
2. To the Postmaster-General and Minister of Trade and Commerce, with a request that they apply the same to carry out their contract with the government in its entirety and land and embark all mails at the port of Halifax during the winter season.
3. To the Premier and members of federal government.

On considering the above matter it was felt unwise to take any action in the matter, the impression being that it was a matter for boards of trade of cities nearer to the Atlantic coast than for the local board.

THE STAGE.

Tonight "The Merry Wives of Windsor" will be presented by Louis James and company. The Seattle News of yesterday says of the production at the Sound city:

"It takes a daring man to produce Shakespeare's 'Merry Wives of Windsor.' It has been attempted often enough, but it has generally been rewarded with nothing more than curiosity and a slight praise for the cleverness of the manager. The successful rendition of this most excellent comedy, the like of which modern writers seem incapable of producing, are only matters of tradition in these days, for it has been longer than is creditable to the American public and the American theatrical managers since a serious attempt was made to present this play."

"When it was announced last season that Louis James would present 'The Merry Wives of Windsor,' there were smiles and some interest, and a general opinion that it was purely an advertising bluff. But Mr. James has made good. Not only has he produced the comedy, but he has done it sincerely and with due regard to classic traditions. The version presented last night by Mr. James at the Grand have been modernized only in the way of cutting out some of the obsolete phrases and toning down the broad meaning of others. The lines are Shakespeare's, and for this Mr. James is to be congratulated, for the idea of some of the 'leading' managers is that they have 'lured' men on their staffs who can improve upon Shakespeare."

"Whatever the opinion is of Mr. James' capabilities as an actor, that is as he really appears and acts upon the stage, for Mr. James sometimes seems to forget himself and seems bent upon making his play a farce, there should be but one idea of his Falstaff. This character is a worthy one, and as presented by Louis James is pleasing and impressive. By nature Mr. James is a comedian and he seems to fit into the part of Falstaff as he does in no other comedy role.

There will be an enthusiastic gathering of Scotsmen at the Victoria Theatre next Thursday evening to greet Miss Jeanie Fletcher, who appears under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Society.

Among the many and varied mementoes treasured by Miss Fletcher, the one she values most is a letter from the secretary of the Caledonian Society of Broken Hill, Australia: "The Caledonian Society, 'Broken Hill, Aug. 26, 1904. 'To Caledonian Societies the World Over: 'The motto, wherever it is presented, will serve to introduce to your notice Miss Jeanie Fletcher, a most charming and beautiful exponent of Scottish songs. Our society here in Broken Hill has not since its inception, eleven years ago, ever spent a more enjoyable evening than on the 25th of August, 1904, when they, in the Theatre Royal, were under the spell of Miss Fletcher's melodious voice. The wee lassie's deportment is natural and easy and graceful, her enunciation is distinct and captivating, and the general desire of everyone present on the occasion is well expressed in these words of Burns: 'Sing, oh, sweet bird, we listen to thy strain.' To meet and listen to a songster from the land of cakes with the range of voice that Miss Fletcher possesses is indeed a privilege that Scots abroad seldom have an opportunity of enjoying. 'On behalf of the Caledonian Society of Broken Hill, we wish the artistic young lady all the countenance and kindness our fellow countrymen can possibly bestow upon her in her profession, and which she undoubtedly to well merits. Lang may her lum reek."

"WILL WAUGH, Secretary."

SAYS PEOPLE OVERPAY THEIR DEBT TO NATURE

Eminent Doctor Tells of Hundreds of Thousands of Preventable Deaths

The appalling waste of life, how hundreds of thousands of needless deaths and millions of needless illnesses might have been prevented every year, were the subjects of discourse by two eminent medical men of London the other day. Sir James Crichton Brown, while delivering an impressive warning to students against the materialist school of philosophy, quoted some startling statistics regarding the waste of human life by disease from preventable disease, and predicted that in another forty or fifty years mortality from preventable disease would have disappeared.

"The aim of many modern physiologists is to bring their science into line with other material sciences," he said, "by showing that all physiological phenomena are but complex problems of physical and chemical nature."

"Determining their laws and measuring their constants by physical and chemical methods, the new materialists have discarded the phantom of vitality, have left as plants and animals as more or less complicated arrangements of protoplasmic substances responding in a very simple way to the ordinary physical forces that we see around us. They leave us for a brain a mass of glue-like substance, nine-tenths water, with a little phosphorus thrown in, traversed by waves of physical forces, and nothing more."

"Your object and aim will be to obviate the tendency to death. In fact, the last year for which returns are available, there were 540,781 deaths in England. Of these a very considerable proportion were that might be called lives thrown away. In fact, the debt to nature is overpaid each year to the extent of 200,000 lives. The unnecessary leakage is still going on in all directions. "Of every 1,000 born 145 perish within the first year of life."

Taking as his text that prevention is better than cure, Dr. A. T. Schofield, at the opening series of the Gresham lectures, also referred to the enormous number of premature deaths in the United Kingdom every year. As the ratio of illness to deaths was about thirty to one, there must be some 6,000,000 unnecessary preventable sick beds in the same time. Worry and anxiety about health were the surest way to disease. The great rule for the average man was "keep up your weight and don't worry."

Palpitations and pain in or near the heart, he said, might safely be ignored at least in the majority of cases. That organ was most difficult to injure. It could stand any reasonable strain. Regard health, he advised, with wise indifference, and never "diet." Moderation in food is all that is needed, not "munching clubs," where forty bites per month must be counted. Hostesses did their guests poor service when they pressed them to eat once they were satisfied. He was happy, he said, to think that he had in the cases of several families stopped the intolerable blunder of spying upon the guest's plate.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE GOLDEN PRECEPT.

Sir: In the interesting account of Confucius, the great Chinese sage, in Sunday's issue of The Colonist, you gave a correct summary of his motto, the golden rule, which, however, is very different from that emanated by One greater than Confucius. This is seen at once when the two are compared. Tzu Kung asked Confucius, "Is there a word which may serve as a rule of practice for all one's life?" The master said, "Is not reciprocity such a word? What you do not wish done to yourself, do not do to others." Jesus said, "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so to them." That is to say, whether they do so to you or not, do to them what you would desire them to do to you.

The one is passive, not requiring a man to do anything at all; the other teaches that aggressive goodness should be the rule. Confucius said, "The superior man is right as a sun and moon; he is not disturbed by the many excellent sayings of China's greatest sage. I may add that besides the two words mentioned in your article, the golden word of his life was the 'Spring and Autumn Annals,' the only original work from his pen, and is a chronicle of the history of his native state, Loo, from the year 722 B. C.

PROVINCIAL CLAIMS.

The more the action of the provincial conference is considered the more the course of Premier McBride appears to have been justified. Let us suppose that he had not withdrawn, but had remained to the end and accepted the concessions, which the premiers of the other provinces were willing to make, what would be the criticism of his opponents? They would have said that he had surrendered the just claims of the province for an allowance, which, relatively speaking, is paltry. They would have represented him as weak. They would have alleged that, while he was very determined to demand fair play when in Victoria, he lacked the courage of his convictions at Ottawa. They would have told him that he had no warrant from anything that had transpired in the legislature to submit the claims of the province to the decision of the representatives of other provinces. They would have insisted that we are entitled as a province to justice from the Dominion, that our case stands upon its own merits and that the opinion of the premiers of the other provinces ought not to be taken into account. What answer could he have made to this? We can think of none, except that he had made the best terms possible under the circumstances. To this the opposition would have replied that it would have been better to have accepted nothing, or to have accepted what was offered only under the strongest protest; because it is not just or equitable that our strong claims to exceptional treatment should be surrendered for a very moderate temporary concession. To this we would all have been compelled to accede. We can imagine how the Times would, under these circumstances, have poured out its sarcasm upon Mr. McBride's head, how the Leader of the Opposition would have appealed to the electorate to dismiss from power a premier who so little understood what the province was entitled to, or, if he understood it, was so lacking in force of character that he would not stand up for it in the presence of the federal ministers and the other provincial premiers. This is something like what Mr. McBride's opponents would have said if he had meekly fallen into line and agreed to what the other premiers offered. He did not do this. He did what every man in British Columbia honors him for doing. He declared that he would not be satisfied with anything so very far short of justice as was proposed, and he made the most emphatic kind of protest possible against the treatment which our claims received. Let none of us make the mistake of supposing that Mr. McBride was at Ottawa in the interest of any political plan evolved by himself, or that he was fighting the battle of the particular political party with which he is associated. He was supporting a position taken by the province years ago, and at a time when we had not thought of introducing party lines into local politics. He was advocating in principle, what every public man in the province has advocated for a decade and more.

The result of the conference is, on the whole, favorable to the province, if we read the despatches aright, but this is solely because of Mr. McBride's firmness. The justice of the claim that British Columbia is, for reasons of a permanent nature, entitled to exceptional treatment from the Dominion has been admitted. This is in itself a great gain. The admission has never been made hitherto, but as a matter of fact the claim has always been strongly combatted. We stand, therefore, in a much stronger position than ever before. This one good thing has come out of the unexpected policy pursued by the federal premier. He threw upon the provincial premiers the responsibility of deciding whether or not the condition of British Columbia was sufficiently different from that of the other provinces to call for extraordinary concessions. To this proposition the provincial premiers have unanimously assented. The disagreement between our representative and the others arose, first as to the manner in which the amount of these extraordinary concessions should be determined, and, when the conference declined to sanction arbitration, then as to the amount that should be given the province. Mr. McBride's proposal, that there should be an arbitration between the two governments directly concerned, was eminently fair. The case for British Columbia is somewhat involved. The literature of the case is voluminous; the various matters to be considered are many and somewhat diverse in their nature. One can hardly imagine how any person could think that the merits of our claims could be even superficially examined in two or three days at a conference composed of the representatives of other provinces, each of whom had his own affairs to look after, or how an unbiassed judgment could be passed upon them by such a body. Mr. McBride asked for no snap judgment. He was so confident of the strength of his case that he was not only ready, but anxious that it should be laid before a properly constituted tribunal in all its bearings. This the conference would not hear to. Whether or not the federal ministry exercised its influence to prevent arbitration, we do not know; but it is very certain that it used no means to bring about this very reasonable way of reaching a just conclusion in a case involving not a few difficulties. So far as our representatives in the House of Commons are concerned, they might just as well not have been in existence for all they appear to have done to aid the province to receive the treatment to which it is entitled. We do not now refer to the amount proposed to be given, but to the manner in which the amount to which we are reasonably entitled ought to be determined.

In regard to the amount, while a million dollars seems to be, and in point of fact is, a great deal of money, when we consider that it is only about half as much as the province is compelled to expend every year for its ordinary public services, and that it is to be paid in instalments extending over a period of ten years, the sum seems to be trifling. At the expiration of ten years the need of exceptional treatment will be as great as ever. By that time the population of the province will probably have reached 400,000, and therefore the Dominion subsidy of 80 cents per head will have reached its maximum. Our total revenue from federal sources on and after that period, exclusive of any exceptional allowance, will be $484,000 under existing arrangements; if the additional $115,000 for administrative and legislative expenses is granted, the amount will be $599,000, and beyond this it can never go under the arrangement proposed by the conference. The population may double or even treble that of Alberta and Saskatchewan, which each receive about a million and a quarter dollars annually, but we never can get any more than $599,000. We may surpass Ontario or Quebec in the number of our people, the cost of administering our affairs and the gross contribution of the province to the Dominion, but we must be content with less than $600,000 a year, while Ontario will continue to receive more than twice and Quebec nearly twice as much. This is the arrangement which the eastern premiers wish to see imposed upon us, and which the government of Canada seems to think gives us all we are entitled to; that is to say, we will have, after ten years a constantly expanding population, but a stationary revenue as far as the Dominion contribution to it is concerned. Mr. McBride very properly objected to any arrangement that would result in such a condition of things, and demanded that we should have a revenue which would expand with the demands upon it, at least until it reached a sum bearing some kind of reasonable relation to the amount which Ontario and Quebec receive now and will always receive. The claim is absolutely just, and although he has not been able to secure its recognition, we must continue agitating until right is done.

CHANGING THE BASIS.

We are told that the plan of Confederation was arrived at by agreement between the several provinces, and therefore ought not to be altered except by consent of those provinces. This is one of those pronouncements, which look much stronger than they are. It is true that the representatives of what are now Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick wrestled with the terms of union first at Quebec and afterwards at London, finally reaching the compromise legalized in the British North America Act. But no sooner was this Act brought into force than Nova Scotia began to clamor for better terms. They were granted after a year's controversy. Then New Brunswick put in her claim, and was allowed $150,000 a year compensation for surrendering the right to levy an export duty on logs, which, by the way, never amounted to anything like that sum. This was in 1873, in which year there was also a readjustment of terms based upon the provincial debts. In 1901 Prince Edward Island asked for something because winter communication was not maintained between the mainland and the island, as the Islanders thought it ought to be under the terms of union, and $25,000 a year was given. In the same year Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were granted respectively $671,836 and $280,692 to extinguish certain not very self-evident claims against the Dominion. It was not thought necessary to call the provincial premiers together to give their assent to these modifications of the original terms of union, any more than it was to ask their consent to the exceptionally favorable terms granted to Saskatchewan and Alberta when they were erected into provinces.

In regard to the necessity of amending the British North America Act, there is this to be said. If any additional sum is to be given the provinces expressly for the support of their governments and legislatures, the Act must be amended, because the sum to be paid for those purposes is fixed thereby. So also if any change is to be made in the per capita grant of 80 cents, which is also fixed by the statute. But we do not see any provision in the law to prevent the federal parliament from giving any province an additional sum of money, if it shall see fit to do so. If the parliament of Canada should see fit to enact that there should be paid annually to British Columbia any sum whatever, it is not very evident what could be done to prevent it, and if, in order to get around the expression in the British North America Act to the effect that the 80 cents per head are to be in full settlement of all the future demands of the provinces upon the Dominion, it should be thought necessary to allege some quid pro quo, as in the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island cases above referred to, no very great amount of ingenuity would be needed to meet that requirement. When Sir Wilfrid Laurier says that he will go to England and endeavor to obtain an amendment to the B. N. A. Act, he is to be understood only as using the language of courtesy, for every one knows, and no one better than he, that the Imperial parliament will amend that Act in any way the Canadian parliament asks.

Under the circumstances above detailed, we suggest in all kindness to the Times that it ought to inform itself better before it denies the power of the Canadian parliament to add anything to the terms of union. If we were disposed to follow our contemporary's example and introduce personalities into the discussion of an exceedingly important question, we might suggest to it that by devoting a little more time to the study of the history and constitution of the country and a little less to the evolving of would-be severe observations, its usefulness would be greater. For example, it told its readers yesterday that the Colonist imputed ignorance to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Of course the Colonist did nothing of the kind. It trusts that it understands what courtesy requires too well to impute ignorance even to its esteemed evening contemporary. But this the Colonist will say, and with this it will take leave of an unpleasant subject. It is singularly unfortunate, not only for its party but for the whole province, that the leading Liberal organ does not appear able to treat the most important question that has arisen in recent years without resorting to a style of language and an imputation of motives wholly out of keeping with the subject. It matters very little to the Colonist how the Times injures the standing of its party; but we do regret in the interests of the whole province that a paper in its position is apparently unable to treat a grave issue seriously and without resorting to senseless abuse and baseless insinuations.

However much we may sympathize with the feelings of the Vancouver people in regard to the Hindu "invasion," we advise caution. The Hindus are our fellow subjects, and living among people of their race in India are hundreds of people of our own race. While we ought to assert in a resolute way our determination to stop Hindu immigration, we ought not to do so in a fashion that may cause reprisals.

THE ANIMALS IN THE PARK.

The chairman of the park committee feels that the observations of the Colonist upon the condition of the animals in the park are somewhat of a reflection upon him and his fellow committee-men. Nothing of the kind was intended. The committee is doing the best it can with the money at its disposal, and the responsibility does not rest any more upon them than upon the other members of the city council. For the limited amount at their disposal the members of the committee have done exceedingly well. The chairman is far from claiming that the condition in which the animals are kept is what it ought to be, although he says that the seals are not as badly off as a casual observer might think, for they are given fresh water every day in their pond, and if they make it muddy and if the leaves fall in from the surrounding trees, he does not see what the committee can do to prevent it, with which every one will agree. He admits that they might well be given a much better place to live in, but he asks, not unreasonably, where the money is to come from. Of course it is all a matter of money. No one supposed for a moment that it was any lack of appreciation on the part of the committee of what the decent treatment of animals required. But with the following proposition we fancy that the committee and all the citizens will agree, namely, that if we cannot keep animals in the park as they ought to be kept, we ought to get rid of them. The swans, ducks, geese, deer, pheasants and the solitary moose are as comfortable as animals in captivity can be; but as to the others, perhaps the least said is soonest mended. If the city cannot spare the money to build proper quarters for the poor creatures, it might be possible to raise the money by a private subscription; but any way, something ought to be done and done as quickly as possible.

Government ownership of railways may be tried in Ireland. If the Imperial government resolves upon this course the result of the experiment will have a far-reaching influence.

The governor-general's musical and theatrical trophy, to be competed for at Ottawa in January, will excite considerable interest in many quarters. Ottawa is a long way off, and the terms of the competition are not yet known, so it is premature to suggest that Victoria people ought to take part in the competition.

was of him that Lord Palmerston said: "He has created a nation."

After the mayor, the aldermen, the officials of the water department and divers and sundry citizens have spent a good part of the summer in studying the environs of Elk lake, Mr. T. W. Paterson took His Worship out for a little trip, and showed him some things which Mr. Morley seems to think materially alter the whole water question. If it were not so serious, this would be very funny. But what are we to think of all the real and self-styled experts? In the public interest it is to be hoped that if Mr. Paterson has any more such cards up his sleeve, he will play them quickly.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 16.—After investigating the killing of Mlle. Somenova the young medical student confined in the Central prison of St. Petersburg who was shot dead by a sentry on Sept. 10th when she showed herself at the window of her cell overlooking the courtyard, the commander of the St. Petersburg prison has thanked the soldier who killed the girl and has given him a reward of five dollars. In addition, the soldier is upheld as an example to his comrades of faithful performance on duty.

The prisoners claimed that the sentry fired without any warning or provocation while the sentry said he ordered Mlle. beacon for upwards of twenty years. It was famed after the late shipping master, Capt. H. G. Lewis, who found it one time with the old Hudson's Bay steamer Otter. A round, black-painted stone pillar is built there surmounted by a drum, painted white one side and black the other. At the outer edge of the rock there are other dangers and stretching away some distance are what is known as the Chain rocks, aptly named. There is a good channel, however, known as Baynes passage, between Lewis rock and Fiddle reef.

The Stranded Vessel

The Princess Victoria is too well known to need extended description. She is a palatial steamer valued at approximately half a million dollars—which is covered by insurance. Built by Swan & Hunter at Newcastle-on-Tyne, under the supervision of T. G. Mitchell, then chief engineer and now Lloyd's surveyor at this port, she was brought to Victoria about four years ago by Capt. Cooper, of the Athenian. She is a twin screw steel vessel, 300 feet long between perpendiculars. She is practically unsinkable, having no less than seven watertight compartments and bulkheads. The vessel at the time of the accident was in charge of Capt. Hickey, who has had command of the vessel since the collision which took place a few months ago at Vancouver Narrows with the tug Chelalis when he relieved Capt. Griffin. He has always been regarded as a most careful navigator and is an exceedingly popular shipmaster.

Some of the Passengers

There were quite a large number of Victorians among the passengers, among them being F. B. Pemberton, G. Sheldon Williams, editor of the B. C. Mining Exchange, E. E. Welch, of the B. C. Cattle Market, Alex. McDermott and W. Dockrill, of the Victoria and Vancouver Stevedoring company, Mrs. W. McKen, G. Thompson, Dr. O. M. Jones, W. Staneland, of E. B. Martin & Co., Dan O'Sullivan, Mr. Vivian. There were about 120 passengers in all. One of the passengers, Mr. McMoran, was a survivor of the Islander disaster; another was on board the steamer when she struck at the Narrows two years ago.

The Amur took the run to Vancouver this morning, carrying the mails and passengers booked for the stranded vessel. The Charmer will be made ready for the run tomorrow morning, the Amur continuing her way north from Vancouver.

O'BRIEN DEFEATS TWO.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 16.—Jack O'Brien beat Cooley in the third round and Trimble in the ninth round tonight.

JUDGE STEVENS DEAD.

St. Stephen, N. B., Oct. 16.—Judge Stevens, who has been gradually sinking since Sunday, died at 10 o'clock tonight, aged eighty-four.

ASYLUM FOR MRS. HOLMES.

New York, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Elizabeth M. Holmes, wife of William M. Holmes, of Brooklyn, who was arrested in Washington last January while attempting to secure an interview with President Roosevelt was today ordered by Judge Crane, of Brooklyn, to be committed to Bloomingdale asylum as a paranoiac.

FINDS BODY IN BOX.

Miss Leveillee of Montreal Presents Police With a Mystery.

Montreal, Oct. 16.—At seven o'clock this morning, Constable Leduc was called to No. 14 Emory street and was there informed that Miss L. Leveillee of No. 12 Emory street had just found the body of a newly born child. On proceeding to No. 12, Leduc was shown the body which was that of a quite newly born female child which Miss Leveillee informed him she had found it in a small box in an adjoining passage. The box was a small one and of the kind used as a receptacle for refuse.

SICK MAN KILLS HIMSELF.

In Presence of Wife He Plunges Knife Into His Breast.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Arthur Lounquist, formerly of Philadelphia, committed suicide here today. Lounquist worked on the lumber docks all summer and saved enough money to send for his wife and children, who had been living with relatives in Philadelphia. They arrived today and found Lounquist suffering from an attack of typhoid fever. After talking with his wife for a time Lounquist drew a knife from beneath his pillow and plunged it four times into his breast. He died in a few minutes.

WILL DIG UP BODIES.

Strikers Argue That Detective Was Killed by His Own Men.

Buckingham, Que., Oct. 16.—The bodies of the two dead strikers, Belanger and Theriault, which were buried last Thursday, will be exhumed. A post mortem examination of the body of Detective Warner of Montreal, who died yesterday, revealed the fact that the femur had been shattered and that whatever the operation, there was no hope of his life. The wound was caused by an explosive bullet, and the strikers argue that this will bring out at the inquiry that Warner's wound was caused by the same kind of a bullet which killed Belanger. This points to the fact that Belanger was killed by his own men.

FATALLY INJURED.

St. Thomas, Ont., Oct. 16.—Thomas Penhale, aged eighty, a wealthy retired farmer, was fatally injured at the M. C. R. crossing at Yarmouth centre last evening.

TWO CHILDREN DROWNED.

Montreal, Oct. 16.—Two children of Alfred Godbout, Nouvelle Que., were drowned Saturday evening near McKean's mill, while crossing Stewart Brook in search of cows. A heavy freshet had raised the brook and in attempting to wade it the children were carried away.

ANDREW HOLLAND'S SCHEME.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—(Special).—A largely attended meeting of the Board of Trade tonight discussed a motion of Andrew Holland's for the creation of the cities of Ottawa and Hull and the surrounding country into a federal district governed by a commission. The majority of those present favored the motion, but the debate was adjourned.

NEW PAPER FOR VANCOUVER.

Toronto World Man Said to Have Scheme Almost Complete.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 16.—It is rumored here that W. F. MacLean, M. P., for South York, proprietor of the Toronto World proposes to start a paper in Vancouver and that arrangements to this end have been practically completed.

DOUBLE SUICIDE.

Old Couple of Hamilton End Existence Because of Poverty.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 16.—Andres Enevoldsen and wife committed suicide at their boarding house No. 11 Keith street today. The couple were about sixty years of age. Poverty and inability of the old man to procure work on account of his age are given as the cause of the deed.

DOG SAVED BABY.

An occasional visitor to Detroit is C. W. Higgins, of Omaha. Mr. Higgins is fond of animals, and never misses an opportunity to say something good about them. "No one," said he, "can set a limit to their intelligence, and sometimes they manifest it in a way that is astonishing. A friend of mine named Roberts moved into the extreme western part of Kansas, in a region where cyclones are frequent. His nearest neighbor was twenty miles away and his family was composed of his wife and a little three-year-old daughter.

"When the baby was born, he bought a bull puppy, which grew up with her and as the child had no playmates it made her both a reliable watchdog and a very playful and faithful companion. "Sport," as they called the dog, was very gentle and peaceful, and perfectly kind to everyone, especially the baby, whom he adored.

"In the summer of the year that my friend took up his ranch he was obliged, one hot July day, to leave home for a trip to the nearest town. The heat for some days had been most oppressive and this day the atmosphere was like a brazen furnace. Roberts had dug a cyclone cellar near the house and told his wife to run to it at once if a storm arose. He cautioned her to keep the baby near the house, where she was playing with the dog.

Dog Tugged the Baby

"As Mrs. Roberts went about her work in the morning she noticed that the baby had run away with the dog, and on going out of the door she found the animal tugging hard at her skirt. The little one was crying and protesting, but the dog was steadily dragging her towards a dry creek bed across the field where he was fond of scratching.

"Mrs. Roberts told the dog to let go of the baby, but he paid no attention, growling furiously at her when she came near. She was following the dog helplessly to the creek bank when she looked up, and far across the plains saw a black cloud bearing swiftly down on the farm.

"She screamed and tried to grab the baby, but the dog again resisted her, whining and growling, and dragging the baby toward what she could then see was a great hole he had at one time scratched in the bed of the creek bank.

"When they reached it the dog seized and content. Mrs. Roberts, with the baby, struggled down the hole just as the cyclone broke over the farm.

"When the storm had passed she crawled out of the hole with the baby and the dog, all uninjured. She found both barn and house swept away, while the cyclone cellar had been utterly demolished. Had she been in it she would assuredly have been killed. When Roberts returned home that night and found his family safe you can believe he was thankful.

"Now, do you suppose that the dog's instinct told him that the cyclone cellar was not safe, or was it just accident that he picked out the safest place on the ranch in which to hide his little companion?"

ONCE MORE THE WILDCAT.

A boom of this kind is not a good thing. It does not promote development. It simply fosters the gambling spirit, arouses hopes that in many cases will not be realized and takes money that ought to go for the winter's coal. Half a dozen tons of that mineral in the cellar is an investment that we are ready to back against the loss of the most rosy hopes of a share in the minerals in the Cobalt-Toronto Star.

CONFIDENCE IN DR. CHASE.

"My mother has kept Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house as long as I can remember, and we are all well acquainted with their merits. I have used them for kidney and liver disorders and they always helped me. Mother has had Dr. Chase's Receipt Book for twenty years, and tell you that it is a good one."—Mr. John Miller, South Salt Spring, B. C.

VANCOUVER ISLAND.

In spite of the riches of the Island it is doubtful if the C. P. R. would be making the present move for the motive of ascertaining the possibility of a port on the western or Pacific side of the Island available for trans-Pacific trade. The use

Curator and Advisory Board to Be Appointed for the Ontario

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Ontario Bank and representatives of the Bank of Montreal last night it was decided that in the best interest of the shareholders, and, supplementing the agreement with the Bank of Montreal, a curator should be appointed by the Canadian Bankers' Association. It is understood that W. E. Stewart of the Bank of Montreal is to be curator and that B. E. Walker, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, D. R. Wilkie, general manager of the Imperial Bank of Canada, and Duncan Coulbin, manager of the Bank of Toronto, will act as an advisory board.

An official who has been in intimate touch with all the negotiations says that after liquidation is concluded there might possibly be something left for the shareholders.

of such a port connected with the eastern side of the Island by a short railway line, and with a ferry line to Vancouver, would materially shorten the time between Hongkong, Japan and the British Islands, for mails and rush matter and passengers. At present the C. P. R. is looking at everything which will cut off hours in this trip, in its desire to secure the shortest and best route for Imperial mails.

The construction of this railway will actively commence the systematic exploration of the interior of the Island, and we may confidently expect to have another treasury laid bare to the world, and another proof that we as yet have only a dim conception of the vast and undiminished wealth of our Dominion.—Ottawa Press.

WARM PRAISE FOR

B. C. RIFLEMEN

Writer in "The Last West" Hands a Buquet to Boys From Pacific Province

Staff Sergeant Fred Richardson of Victoria, who coached the team which represented this province in the recent D. R. A. matches at Ottawa, is in receipt of a copy of "The Last West," by Anson A. Gard, the famous American-Canadian author, writer of several books on military affairs. A portion of an article appearing in "The Last West" reads as follows:

Those wonderful British Columbia boys, I say wonderful because I do not know of any other word to use that will give a faint conception of the phenomenal marksmanship of the boys who came to Ottawa from British Columbia to attend the Dominion Rifle Association's annual shoot. They were representatives of the Fifth Canadian Artillery of Victoria and the Sixth D. C. O. R. of Vancouver. Marksmen were gathered here from every province in the Dominion. The B. C.'s came in quietly—no flourish of banners, or sounding of trumpets, but they got busy, and if what they did has ever been equalled, my ignorance of military records must be my only excuse for not knowing about it. This being but a postscript of my booklet (the rest is all in type) I can only briefly note a few of the things that so surprised us all. A team of eight men selected from the two regiments won first the London Merchants' trophy and the team of five men from the Fifth C. A. (and, by the way, only the five were here from Victoria) won the Kirkpatrick trophy, the Lansdowne cup, the Aymer Guard trophy, were second in the Gillespie and also second in the Borden prize. Three of them (Brayshaw, Cayen and Carr) were of the eight men who won the London Merchants' while Staff Sergeant Richardson of the same regiment coached the team to victory, overwhelming their opponents by 48 points, over 6 points per man. In fact, they struck such a lead of winning that if the colonel of their regiment had not hurriedly telegraphed them to leave the ranges for next year it is hard to tell if they would have left anything to remind us of the meet of 1906. I am going to be real honest, and say that I had sort of hoped that the Ottawa boys would keep the trophy, but it gave me great pleasure to have the committee gratefully accept as the first cup of the kind from an American citizen. I had so hoped, as I have become a sort of barnacle, much attached to the city, and especially so to the military part of it, but when I met those wideawake boys from the coast provinces I whispered to myself, "If it's got to go to those are they whom I hope will win," and they just took it hands down. Then I yelled "Hurrah!" with a capital H and the echo of the yell will reverberate through "The Last West."

The winners of the various cups and trophies are then given and the author goes on to say:

Everybody seemed to be delighted not only with the boys from B. C. but every man from the all-western country. "They are alive," was the universal acclamation and it has gone far to make the colonel and myself delighted to feel that our lot shall shortly be cast among so genial a lot of people. The minister of inland revenue, the Hon. W. Templeman of Victoria, was here with the boys and added a long list to his friends.

Mr. Gard and several prominent eastern men will soon come to British Columbia to write up a full description of the province for "The Last West."

Quinsy, Sprains and Swellings Cured.

"In November, 1901, I caught cold and had the quinsy. My throat was swollen so I could hardly breathe. I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it gave me relief in a short time. In two days I was all right," says Mrs. L. Cousins, Otterburn, Mich. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment and is especially valuable for sprains and swellings. For sale by all druggists.

SHIPPING TO CROFTON.

Mount Andrew Mine, on Prince of Wales Island a Promising Property.

S. Lichtenstadter of the Mount Andrew mine, on Prince of Wales Island, returned Monday morning from a visit to Crofton, where he has spent the past week in looking after a shipment of 2,000 tons of ore, shipped by the "Themis" from the mine to the smelter. This was the first shipment of ore from the mine and the second will follow immediately by the steamer Henrietta, which is now loading the ore.

Developments at the island being all completed and the tramway and dock arrangements in thorough working order, shipments will now be regularly made to the smelter, the mine being under lease to the Britannia Mines, Ltd. Mr. Lichtenstadter expressed himself as more than pleased at the satisfactory returns shown from the ore. He reports business on the island to be prosperous and thinks the place is going ahead fast. There are some half dozen companies shipping, some to the local smelter, some to Crofton, and some to Tacoma, with, on the whole, very satisfactory results.

Amherst shoes are solid leather.

Social Dance.—The usual social dance will be held in Semple's hall on Friday evening.

Rifleman's Trophy.—Staff Sergeant Richard has received his handsome gold badge, emblematic of the championship of Ontario, which he has now won twice.

Cedar Hill Social.—The young people of Cedar Hill will hold an "at home" in Temperance hall on Thursday evening, the proceeds from which will be given to the anti-tuberculosis fund.

Last Rites.—The funeral of Mrs. Alice Tovey, relict of the late John Corydon Tovey, took place yesterday afternoon from the parlors of the B. C. Funeral Furnishing company, 52 Government street.

Hospital Board.—A meeting of the board of directors of the Provincial Royal Jubilee hospital will be held at the Board of Trade rooms on Friday evening next (not Thursday, as erroneously stated), at 8 o'clock, for the transaction of general business.

Hunters' Warned.—The shooting on the large farm belonging to Chas. B. Jones known as Lake Farm, Lake District, has been leased to a syndicate of Victoria business men. A special has been employed and notices posted, so sportsmen will do well to keep off the property.

Panthers Plentiful.—Prospectors and others who have been out in the mountains of Vancouver Island this season report seeing an unusually large number of panthers and wolves. The district around Nanosee bay has been visited this year by a regular plague of panthers. On Sunday last John Schonvantes shot two cubs. He fired four shots at the mother, but she escaped unharmd.

Novelty in Engines.—A novelty in auto-marine engines is shown at the Victoria garage, Yates street. The engine has two cylinders, each capable of developing five horse power, and occupies but very little space. The engine is set in position and all who are interested in power boats are invited to inspect the same. A decided innovation has been introduced in the construction of the engine, as it may be started from a push button. This is the first engine of its kind that has been seen in this city and is attracting considerable attention.

Gifts From Earl Grey.—J. B. Woods and T. B. Fisher of the Victoria garage, who acted as chauffeurs to the governor-general's party, are in receipt of very handsome presents from His Excellency. To Mr. Woods he sent a beautiful pair of gold cuff links, one link bearing the initials "J. B. W." while the other bears the inscription "Presented by Earl Grey, September, 1906." The present to Mr. Fisher is a handsome silver match case similarly inscribed. The gifts are highly prized by the recipients.

Substitute Teachers.—The superintendent of the city schools announces that he has now more substitute teachers at call than he is likely to have any need for during the year. While all city applicants have been listed for that purpose, yet it will be necessary for him always to select the person best able to do the work required. Applications of non-residents cannot be considered as they could not take an absent teacher's place at an hour's notice, as is usually required. Of course all questions of temporary certificates and the filling of vacancies in the rural schools are beyond Mr. Eaton's jurisdiction.

Concert Tonight.—The following ladies and gentlemen have kindly consented to assist at the concert tonight in Semple's hall: Mrs. Cave, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Trotter, Mrs. Griffin, Miss Gladstone, Mrs. Francis, Mrs. Semple, Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Hanley and L. C. Brown. Mrs. Hall will act as accompanist and Mrs. Gladstone as chairman. The comedy-drama, entitled "From Puckin Ridge," or "Belinda Jane and Jonathan," will also be produced by the Victoria West Amateur Dramatic Society. The concert is under the auspices of Victoria West Lodge No. 29, I. O. G. T., and should be well attended.

Mothers' Club.—This afternoon at Spring Ridge school, Mrs. Dennis Harris will lecture before the Mothers' Club on "The Care of the Growing Child." A rare treat will be enjoyed, for Mrs. Harris' magnetic personality and exceptional knowledge of the subject are well known. At the previous lecture Mrs. P. Davies gave a lecture on "Parental Influence," which was much appreciated. At the close of the proceedings tea, with dainty accessories, will be served. It is hoped that a large attendance will mark the occasion, as the list of resolutions sent in for the agenda of the annual meeting of L. C. W. will be read. All are cordially invited.

The Wickens Concert.—As the result of the recent concert given by the pupils of Prof. E. G. Wickens in Institute hall, the tidy sum of $50 has been forwarded to the treasurer of the Protestant Orphans' Home. The gross receipts from all sources were $139.75; expenses, $89.45. Prof. Wickens takes this opportunity to thank Mrs. J. T. Legg, J. H. Griffiths, P. Gordon and A. Bremner for assistance, and the Times and Colonist for free advance notices; M. W. Waitt & Co. for loan of chairs, Fletcher Bros. for piano, J. H. Gordon for free services, and especially Miss Nancy Harrison and others who worked so hard to make the fourteenth annual gathering a success.

SOME ECHOES OF THE EARLY DAYS

Cabore the First Boat to Carry Coal from the Nanaimo Mines

Very many old-timers in Victoria and elsewhere throughout the province will read with a great amount of interest a series of articles now being published in the Nanaimo Free Press dealing with early days in the history of Vancouver Island generally, and Victoria and Nanaimo in particular. The Free Press in its Monday's issue had the following:

As far as can be gleaned from the record of the early history of Nanaimo, the Cabore was the first boat to carry coal from the Nanaimo mines. A couple more interesting letters are published below, which passed between Mr. Joseph McKay and Sir James Douglas. Wenthuysen inlet, it will be remembered, refers to what was later known as Nanaimo.

Fort Victoria, Aug. 31, 1852.

Mr. Joseph McKay:
Dear Sir—The Recovery has just left port on her way to Wenthuysen inlet, with a further supply of goods for trade as per invoice herewith.

You will endeavor to load her with coal as soon as possible, and dispatch her to this place. In case you require her presence either as a protection to the party or as a trade room for the time being, you may detain her until the return of the Cabore, and I have directed Capt. Mitchell to attend to your instructions in that particular.

I hope everything is going on quietly and prosperously at the mines, and I trust Mr. Muir and party are now with you and busily engaged in carrying on operations about the shaft.

Please write to me by every opportunity and let me know all particulars about the coal and if any fresh discoveries have been made since my visit.

McGregor being rather unwell, remains here until the return of the Cabore, when he will be sent to you if convalescent. With kind respects to Mr. Pemberton and Pearce, and with best wishes,

Yours truly,
JAMES DOUGLAS.
Wenthuysen Inlet,
Sept. 9, 1852.

James Douglas, Esquire:

Sir—I have to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 26th ultimo, and a accompanying invoice per schooner Cabore, which arrived here on the night of the 2nd instant, also that per Recovery, with accompanying invoice, which arrived here on the 4th instant.

The schooner Cabore is now ready for sea with 450 barrels of coal on board and will sail early tomorrow, weather permitting.

The natives commenced working coal on the 8th instant, and have been busily employed ever since, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, which has been very wet the last four days.

Mr. Muir and miners landed on the 6th and are at present living in a log hut, lined and covered with cedar bark. Raymond and the rest of the men are also comfortably lodged and are in very good spirits.

Raymond is at work in a small shed. He forgot his fire iron, and complains that his bellows are nearly useless, the wrong pair having been sent. The mistake requires rectifying, otherwise his work will be much retarded.

The goods per Cabore and Recovery were correct, according to invoice.

The greater part of the Cabore's cargo was purchased with small trade, a few of the chiefs have retained their tickets until they can afford to purchase blankets. I have continued the tariff established last voyage, as the Indians were at first so extravagant in their demands that I considered any concessions on my part would only increase their importunity. They are very well satisfied with the present arrangement. An able man can earn at the rate of one shirt per diem. They have opened the seam up to the bank, and Mr. Muir has a favorable opinion of the appearance of the coal. He commenced boring about ten yards further along the beach this morning, but has not as yet reached the coal. His intention is to work backward, towards the edge of the seam and lay bare a section of the seam sufficient to enable him to determine the true dip and strike in order that he may determine the best place to commence mining operations.

Lazard and gang have most of the wood on the site for a house 25 by 15 feet, and have commenced building. The Indians have brought 1,000 pieces of bark. They cannot raise any more this year as the season is now far advanced.

The salt spring mentioned in my last communication yields by evaporation at the rate of one pint of salt from several pints of water; the salt is a little colored by the debris brought down by the little rivulet which runs into it. It appears to be of good quality and might be much improved by deepening the spring and turning off the fresh water, which would not be difficult to accomplish.

I have discovered a stratum of limestone about one-quarter of a mile to the eastward of the coal mine, along the beach, a little below high water mark.

Mr. Pemberton has nearly completed the survey of the harbor and has commenced running lines inland.

The prairies back from the picketed village have been visited by Mr. Pearce, who reports them as being of some extent.

There is a salt lake or pond, reported by the Indians as being at no great distance from the salt spring, which I intend to visit at the first opportunity.

The Recovery will commence loading tomorrow. I think that it will be necessary to detain her here until we have a secure place for the trade goods.

The Indians bring in a constant supply of provisions.

A number of light pick axes would be of great assistance to the Indians in mining, as they waste a great deal with their axes.

The Honolulu Packet arrived in harbor late last evening. She has been trading salmon cranberries at Point Roberts. Mr. Xevin's name is said to be on her register as master, but Capt. Webster sails the vessel. I have not seen Capt. Webster as yet, but I will give you a full report of her proceedings tomorrow by canoe.

I herewith inclose a requisition for a few small articles at present in demand among the natives, also an invoice of the Cabore's cargo.

I have the honor to remain,

Your most obedient servant,
JOSEPH WILLIAM MCKAY.

Building Progress.—Messrs. Sedger & Pownall, architects, are calling for tenders which will be received up to noon of Monday, October 31st, for a bungalow residence on Richardson street, just below Government house, for Col. Herchmer.Reinforce Garrison.—Officers of the Work Point Garrison have received word from the department of militia that the promised reinforcements to the present garrison, will reach Victoria about the end of the month. The detachment will consist of about forty men taken from the stations at Halifax, Kingston and Toronto. These men are nearly all R. C. Engineers.Fishermen Rescued.—During the up-trip of the Princess Victoria yesterday morning two Japanese fishermen were rescued from imminent danger of drowning. Their boat had capsized during the night and they were nearly dead from exposure when sighted by the Princess Victoria.Fishing Is Good.—It is reported that Covichan river since the recent rains, has been productive of extremely good fishing. On Saturday Neil F. McKay landed a six-pounder, using a Clarendon white fly, sometimes known locally
as the Covichan champion. George Harvey was even more fortunate, catching a nine-pounder. Salmon were rising all over the place.Locates in Victoria.—On the occasion of his departure from Grand Forks for this city, where he is to go into business, George A. Fraser, M. P., was tendered a complimentary banquet at the Yale hotel. The function had no political significance, the fifty subscribers comprising Liberals and Conservatives.
Ernest Miller, president. The various speakers paid a high tribute to the invaluable services rendered by Mr. Fraser at the coast, and general regret was expressed over his decision to leave the Boundary district. The guest made a very eloquent reply, reviewing his po-

A PLEASING EVENT

AT CALVARY CHURCH

Presentation and an Address and Purse to Rev. and Mrs. Tapscott

The schoolroom of Calvary Baptist Church was filled with an enthusiastic gathering last evening on the occasion of the first anniversary of the settlement of Rev. F. T. Tapscott in the pastorate. The room had been beautifully decorated with flowers, evergreens, etc., by the members of the Y. P. U.

During the evening the following programme was rendered, many encores being demanded: Piano duet, W. Russell and G. Andrews; reading, Miss Mary Freeman; vocal solo, "Queen of the Earth," James Morgan; violin and piano duet, Master and Miss Alexander; reading, R. V. Russell; piano solo, Miss M. Clark; vocal solo, Mrs. F. T. Tapscott; reading, Miss M. Underhill; solo, "Stella Con-fidante," Miss Buchanan; with violin obligato by Miss B. Brooker and piano accompaniment by Jesse Longfield.

At the conclusion of this portion of the programme, Deacon Andrew Stewart, on behalf of the officers and members of the church, read the following address:

"Dear Pastor and Mrs. Tapscott: We, the members of Calvary Baptist Church, desire at this time to express our heartfelt thanks to God for His loving watch care over you during your first year of service with this church. As we look back over the year that has passed, we feel that it is good for us to have met together. We have watched with sincere appreciation the loving service you have rendered, and we have seen you ever proved faithful to the trust imposed upon you in ministering to the temporal needs of many and the spiritual needs of us all, always showing a tender solicitude and an earnest sympathy on our behalf. During the year we have realized the joy of seeing wanderers brought back into the fold, and have rejoiced, even as the angels in heaven, to see sinners converted and following our Lord in baptism. We feel that we have great cause for thanksgiving to God for the way in which He has used both of you in our midst, and for the many blessings poured out upon us as pastor and people. While there have been many occasions of thankfulness to God, yet times have arisen when the hearts of all have been filled with a deep feeling of regret that a more perfect spirit of harmony did not prevail among all the members of the flock. While we regret that differences have arisen, the result of which is that loved ones who formerly met with us are not found in their accustomed places, yet we trust and pray that God in His infinite wisdom and by His spirit, bring each and all of us to a fuller realization of His will concerning us.

"Dear pastor, we appreciate your work and leadership over the young people of our church, and feel that through your ministry they are growing daily in the knowledge and service of Jesus, our King. We are glad to note your service among the boys and girls in the Sunday school, and trust that the good seed sown in their midst may lead them all to the feet of Jesus.

"To Mrs. Tapscott we are deeply grateful for loving service, more especially in the choir and the musical portion of our church services. She has proven a loving and helpful leader, and none but the most cordial relationships exist under such leadership. We have recognized her sincere sympathy and cordial co-operation in the effort to make the musical service spiritual and worshipful in tone; and pray that she may ever continue to use her talents in the service of praise.

"To Him who loved us and gave Himself for us."

"In conclusion, dear pastor and Mrs. Tapscott, we desire to assure you of our continued and since a co-operation and every support in the noble cause wherein we are engaged. We feel that our watchword during the coming year is 'Forward.' We know not what is in store for us, but God knows and He has foreseen and prepared every step of the way."

At the conclusion of the reading of the address, all present arose and sang "Blest be the Tie that Binds," after which Mrs. E. W. Andrews and Mrs. H. R. Sellick, on behalf of the church, in a few well chosen words presented Mrs. Tapscott with a beautiful leather handbag containing a purse and seventy dollars in gold.

Rev. and Mrs. Tapscott each made a suitable and feeling response. The ladies of the church dispensed refreshments of coffee and cake and the happy gathering dispersed.

KOOTENAY MINING OUTLOOK.

Steady Improvements Noted—New Plans For Development.

The mining outlook for the week has remained extremely favorable. The coal miners' strike in East Kootenay, while grave and threatening enough, has so far not appreciably affected the situation in metalliferous mining says the Nelson Advertiser. The high prices of silver, copper, lead and zinc have afforded great encouragement to the owners and managers.

The big camps of the Boundary and Rossland have not yet been seriously hampered, although that effect is only a question of time.

The sale of the Maple Leaf mine in Franklin district will probably bring measurably nearer the active development of the camps of the North Fork of the Kettle river.

The sale of the Kraso to a strong syndicate of Butte capitalists opens a new chapter in the history of Ainsworth, the oldest camp in Kootenay. Many other deals are being negotiated and their consummation at an early date is certain.

Work on the American Boy, near Sandon, has been resumed under the direction of W. E. Zwicky, manager of the Rambler-Cariboo. The lease of the mine (tunnels) had the proceeds of assessments have cleared liabilities and made $15,000 immediately available for development.

In the Ymir and Sheep Creek districts activity continues with excellent results. The long and tedious negotiations over the Mother Lode group seem at last nearing a satisfactory conclusion.

The stock market for the past week, while not so active as for the last three weeks, continued very firm. The chief feature of the trading was the rapid advance in all the copper stocks, which still show no signs of weakening. Upon eastern exchanges the excitement and demand in Cobalt stocks has slightly lessened, but it is expected that the stocks of this vicinity will once more become favored on eastern markets when the inevitable reaction sets in on the stocks of the Cobalt district.

Dominion copper opened at about $5.50 and advanced rapidly to $6.75, and is holding firm at this quotation, with a probability of its going to $7.50 or $8 next week.

B. C. copper advanced from $11 to $14.50 and though it weakened slightly is expected to reach $20 before becoming stationary.

Granby advanced from $13.50 to $15.50 but sold today at about $14.75 to $15.

North Star shows some signs of weakening, but this is caused by the neglect of British Columbia stocks on eastern exchanges and is affecting the stocks offered generally.

Sullivan remains almost unchanged, and, if anything, shows a little more strength.

Rambler-Cariboo is stronger than for the last two weeks, and everything points to a sharp advance within a few days.

International coal remains weak, in consequence of the strike by the miners in that district.

Consolidated smelters, Canadian Gold Fields, California and Cariboo-McKinnon remain very firm, with no shares offered at the present low quotations.

MAKERS OF MODERN MUSIC.

T. P.'s Weekly

Books dealing with music, the most elusive of the arts and the most subtle in its appeal, are very numerous nowadays, which is at least a sign of vital interest in the subject. A volume of considerable value, well informed but not over-technical, is "Modern Music and Musicians" (Methuen, 7s 6d), by R. A. Streetfield. The author has endeavored to inflame his readers' minds with the belief "that music is not the mere science that our friends the advocates of 'abstract music' believe, but a means of expressing human emotion as definite and as incisive as any of its sister arts." So Mr. Streetfield develops his theory in a series of studies, beginning with Beethoven, who revolutionized church music, and progressing to modern times by way of Purcell, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert, and a dozen other composers, to that modern of the moderns, Richard Strauss. Here, however, I am not so much concerned with the music as with the musicians.

The Poor Maestro
Palestrina brought to perfect flower, in the sixteenth century, the efforts of his predecessors, adding genius of his own. His father's house, in which he was born, still stands. Some of his early masses so delighted Pope Julius III, that he was appointed to the Pontifical Choir. But a later pope, considering that Palestrina had not a good voice and consequently was not worth his pay, turned him into the street with a pitiful pension of six scudi a month. Finally he became Maestro di Cappella at St. Peter's, a post which he held during the reigns of seven pontiffs. But this man, who searched out the heart of spiritual music, and of whose greatest mass a pope said that "it was some such music that the Apostle John heard sung by the angelic choros around the throne of God," was all his life little more than a servant. "The brilliant company of warriors and churchmen," says Mr. Streetfield, "who thronged the corridors of the Vatican would have smiled if they had been told that to touch the garment of the poor Maestro di Cappella was the greatest honor to which they could aspire."

Beethoven's First Symphony
Beethoven, the unapproachable and unapproachable, is probably the best example of Mr. Streetfield's theory. "Before his day men had pictured themselves in their music—no one can write music or anything else without doing so—but they did so unconsciously, and the conscious was in the glass darkly. Beethoven mirrored his soul in music of set purpose. Music was to him just as much a means of expressing his feelings as poetry was to Shelley." The story of Beethoven's attachment to the Countess Theresa Brunswick, with its secret betrothal and later severance, need not be retold, but to that attachment we owe the fourth and fifth symphonies. "The fourth is the paeon of joy and triumph sounded over their betrothal; the fifth, the first two movements of which were probably finished before the fourth was begun, was a picture in brief of that stormy and passionate episode in Beethoven's career which, writhing his heart and tried his manhood more profoundly than any of the troubles that darkened his life." Beethoven's nervous and passionate nature is indicated in the following story, told by the Countess Theresa herself:

One stormy winter's day in 1794, while the snow stood deep in the streets of Vienna, Countess Theresa Brunswick, then only fifteen, was waiting for Beethoven to come and give her a piano-forte lesson. Weather never stopped him, but when he appeared it was plain that as fierce a storm was raging in his soul as in the streets. He entered with hardly a movement of his head, and she saw at once that everything was wrong. "Practised sonata?" said he, without looking at her. His hair stood more upright than ever, his splendid eyes were half-closed, and his mouth—oh, how wicked it looked! She stammered a reply: "Yes, I have practised it a good deal, but—let's see." She sat down to the piano, and he took his stand before her. "The thought crossed my mind, 'If only I am lucky enough to play well!' But the notes swam before her eyes, and her hands trembled. She began hurriedly. Once or twice he said "Tempo," but it made no difference, and she felt that he was getting more impatient as she became more helpless. At last she struck a wrong note, which hurt his pupil both in body and mind. He struck, not the keys, but her hand, and that angrily and hard; so hard that a madman from the door of the room, and from thence to the street-door, through which he went, banging it after him.

There we have the story of the fifth symphony. Mr. Streetfield says: "No words of mine can make clearer the contrast between the first and second subjects of the opening movement, the one tremendous in its overbearing passion, the other meek, yearning and tender."

The Keats of Music
Mr. Streetfield draws, I think, a just parallel between Keats and Schubert. Both had the divine passion for beauty, both sought it at all hazards and found it. "Keats haunted by visions of Endymion in the dissecting-room at Guy's Hospital, Schubert writing his immortal songs in frothy tavern parlors, have more in common with the bards of old times than with the thought-ridden, theory-haunted singers of our more sophisticated age." The son of a poor schoolmaster, Schubert tried teaching for a time, and then flung himself upon the world. He lodged where he could, worked hard, and was saved from the depths of despair by his natural sympathy and gaiety. His shyness was against him in a world where the blatant humbug always scores; when he went to see Beethoven—then stone-deaf—he could not say a word, but dashed from the room in a frenzy of bashfulness. Perhaps it was for the best that this sensitive spirit, soon escaped from a world that was too crude, too busy about other matters, to understand him. "He lived in a world of his own, apart from theories and dogmas, pouring forth the music that was in him at the dictate of his own genius." A happy life, in spite of all misfortunes, and an early and happy death.

DISAPPOINTED.
"I wish to remind you," said the departing guest, sarcastically, "that you advertised 'no mosquitoes.'" "Yes," answered Farmer Cornstossel, "I don't have much luck putting 'n' notices. The mosquitoes didn't pay no 'tention to it at all."—Washington Star.

Dawson, Oct. 1.—Col. Budd, manager of the English Company, which recently bought several miles of Walker's Fork property for dredging purposes, arrived today from Skagway. He says that the last fifty tons of the total of 450 being shipped by his company to Fort Cadahay, at the mouth of the Forty-Mile, is coming on the steamer Canadian, now en route down the Yukon.

"I plan to have this dredge placed on the Walker's Fork property this winter," says Col. Budd, "and to get three more dredges for the ground this winter. The present dredge has a capacity of 3,000 cubic yards daily, but I should like to get three more for next year."

"My company will haul the first dredge over the ice, more than 100 miles, this winter, and assemble it at Walker's Fork in time for operations next June. I am buying horses here for freightage. Most of them are already secured."

Two hundred samples of quartz have been put through the government assay office at White Horse the last six weeks. The demand on the office for assays is constant and heavy. The southern end of Yukon territory is wild over quartz, and cannot be appeased.

The new strikes in the Conrad, Watson river and White Horse districts have kept the prospecting fever high. While the quartz enthusiasm has abated near Dawson, it has augmented near White Horse. Considerable interest also is maintained in the copper properties near White Horse. Some of the heaviest development work yet undertaken there is now under way.

Gov. McInnes states that while there is no government assay office in Dawson, all Klondikers are at liberty to send quartz samples to the White Horse assay office for testing. No charge is made for the test. An assay office was formerly maintained at Dawson, but has been closed, and all the territorial assay work is done at White Horse.

McCluskey Bros., of Clear Creek, three miles below Dawson, have obtained phenomenal results this summer in raising potatoes. They have demonstrated that splendid crops of spuds can be produced in the open air in the Yukon without artificiality to aid.

From 175 pounds of seed potatoes, the McCluskeys dug, the last two weeks, three and three-quarters tons of potatoes, as fine tubers as ever came to Dawson. Not only are they large, but mealy and of splendid flavor.

Thirteen of McCluskey's big potatoes came from one sprout of a potato which they put in the ground last spring. The sprout, at the time of planting, was six inches long. When dug up it weighed five and a half pounds without the potatoes, and the thirteen spuds clinging to the vine put down the scale indicator to nine and a half pounds.

Some of the McCluskey potatoes run three pounds in weight, and those weighing two pounds are common. Many other people near Dawson have had similar results in raising potatoes this summer.

Some of the heaviest transfers filed in the gold office for many months have just been recorded in respect to property on Hunker and Bonanza. These transfers, while it is not evident, are understood in some instances to be the preliminaries to the requirement of the property by the Consolidated people.

In the big deals just recorded D. A. Cameron, retiring manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, at Dawson, transfers to John S. Day twenty-one claims on Eighty Pup.

A. G. Sutherland is recorded as transferring to A. C. Anderson a group of about twelve claims near Discovery, Bonanza.

A. U. Luemert is recorded as transferring to G. Gast a group of claims on Forty-four Pup and on hills opposite Forty-four Bonanza.

James Monroe, better known as Carly Monroe, takes over all the creek claims on Dominion from 197 to 215 below lower, inclusive. The transfers are made from the men who staked. The staking was done several weeks ago.

ANNUAL GENERAL

MEETING OF Y. M. C. A.

New Board of Directors for the Ensuing Year Is Named

The annual general meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening, with a large and representative number of members present. President Horace J. Knott was in the chair, and General Secretary A. J. Bruce was also on the platform. The evening's business was pleasantly interspersed by solos, vocal and instrumental, and recitations, those assisting being Miss M. Seweroff, Mrs. McCullum, Mrs. Bruce and Mark Horby. Mr. Horby's ventriloquism was especially amusing, keeping the large audience in roars of laughter. The other items were well received, and all were given in a very pleasing manner.

The reports of the various committees were read by the chairmen of the respective committees, and all demonstrated that last year was the most successful of any in the annals of the local Y. M. C. A. The report of the physical committee, which was read by E. M. Whyte, was perhaps the best received. The past year having seen innumerable improvements in the athletic department.

The Y. M. C. A. track team's report, which came up with the physical committee's report, stated that out of six field meets, which had been held during the summer, the team captured in all seven prizes.

After the reports had been read, the election of officers took place. There are fifteen directors of the association, and the arrangement is that the members hold office for three years, five completing their term at each annual meeting. The directors whose term expires this year are Messrs. W. B. Fisher, L. Goodacre, W. E. Staudland, John Nelson and E. M. Whyte. Eight nominations were received by vote, and then the five vacancies were filled by ballot, the result of which was as follows: E. M. Whyte, R. W. Clarke, R. B. McKicking, W. B. Fisher and Joshua Wingham. The announcement of the result of the election was received with loud applause.

Secretary Bruce suggested that a telegram of condolence be sent to the Spokane Y. M. C. A., sympathizing with them in the sad loss of their general secretary, Reno Hutchinson, who was shot and killed Monday night by a thug on one of the city streets.

The motion was carried unanimously. The thanks of the meeting was tendered to the friends who helped on the programme, and to the retiring directors, and on the singing of the National Anthem the proceedings terminated.

The Right Kind of a Friend.

Advice is cheap; almost anyone is willing to give it gratis, but when a man backs it up with hard-earned dollars then you may count him as a real friend. Lucy Suddreth, of Lenoir, N. C., had been troubled with a very bad cough for over a year. She says: "A friend told me about Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, but as I had tried several other cough medicines and none of them did me any good, I had no faith in it, did not get it and went on coughing. Later on my friend bought a bottle of it, brought it to me and insisted that I should take it. I did so and to my surprise it helped me. Four bottles of it cured me of my cough." For sale by all druggists.

OUR FRIEND THE DOG.

He is of three sorts. One sort roams hungry and homeless. Another is pampered until he is bored. Yet another enjoys a sort of happy medium.

This medium dog is the luckiest of all. He has a good home, care, and enough to eat.

He has fresh water three times a day in his bowl.

He has clean hay at least once a week in his well-scrubbed house.

In contrast his contented lot with that of the dog who is without a home.

He is driven from door to door, faint from hunger, and parched with thirst.

He is so grateful for a kind pat from a child that he will follow it half a day.

But he should not be encouraged unless he is to be given food and water, and even rest. Aside from the selfishness which might prompt one to frolic with him, it isn't safe.

LUMBER OPERATOR ON THE SITUATION

Otto Lachmund, of Minneapolis Talks of Great Growth of Industry in B. C.

HIS CO'S RECENT BIG PURCHASES

Acquired Plants at Arrowhead and Kamloops—Shortage of Labor

Otto Lachmund, of the well known firm of the Lamb-Watson Lumber Company of Minneapolis was in town yesterday, registered at the Grand hotel.
Mr. Lachmund at present occupies the dual position of secretary-treasurer and managing director of the above-named company, but his home is in Clinton, Iowa, where he has been connected with the Lamb interests for many years.

In the course of a talk with the Colonist, Mr. Lachmund explained that his company has recently bought out the Arrowhead Lumber Company at Arrowhead and the Kamloops Lumber Company at Kamloops, and has invested over a million dollars in the concern which will now be amalgamated into one great industry.

"We are about to materially extend the business," said Mr. Lachmund, "and to that end have engaged the services of Mr. Wilkinson of Minneapolis, a man of the highest ability, who has probably had more experience in this direction and built more sawmills than any man in the world. He is engaged in looking over our plants and will make suggestions and

Undertake Improvements

and when these have been carried into effect we reckon on being able to produce fifty million feet of lumber per annum. The estimated cost of these alterations and extensions will be something in the neighborhood of $100,000.

"The timber limits of the company are upon the Arrow lake and Columbia river in the one direction, and upon Shuswap lake and the Thompson river on the other, and contain some of the best timber in the province.

"The market for which we cater is that of the prairie provinces, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

"Lumber is getting very scarce just now," continued Mr. Lachmund, "and the demand is very brisk. Even here on this island there are orders for millions of feet offering which the millions are unable to accept, for in addition to a scarcity of lumber, there is a scarcity of logs.

"There is, in my opinion, a great opportunity of development before this province in this as well as in other directions of industry, and the only obstacle in the way of such development is the

Scarcity of Labor

throughout British Columbia. It is a hard thing to say how this difficulty is to be overcome. As a principle, we, as a company, are in favor of white labor.
It is the most satisfactory in every way and the easiest to manage, but, if we cannot get it, we must be content to take what we can get. Consequently,
in company with many others, we have,
in this emergency, been glad to employ Hindus. We find them good, conscientious workers, but they cannot do the work of a white man. They are willing and industrious but what they lack is physical stamina. On the other hand, they are willing to work at a lower rate
of wages than that demanded by white labor. They are satisfied with $1.50 to $1.75 per diem as against $2.25 to $2.50
paid to white men; thus the net result paid to the employer is about equalized.
It has been urged in a section of the press that if employed at all they should be paid at the same rate as other workmen, but this contention on the face of
it would be manifestly unfair to the employer, judged simply on the basis of results.

Superior to the Hindu

not only as regards physical superiority,
but also in intelligence and adaptability.
The Hindu may be equally quick to learn but if so he has not the necessary strength to execute his ideas. He has, moreover, exclusive notions in regard to food, though I am not aware that this has proved any special detriment so far;
and he certainly is a very quiet, polite
and courteous person, satisfied and apparently contented with his lot, peaceably inclined and without any apparent tendency to create disturbances of any kind, as has been alleged against him.

Speaking generally, I may say that for the money we pay them, the Hindus have given good service. We ourselves have so far had no personal experience of the Japs, but they are described by those who have as apt, handy

fellows and ready workers. The pay they receive is $1.75 to $2 per day.
"Such is the position of the labor market as we find it, and it is the same with others. We are all in the same boat and the complaint is general. It constitutes, as I have said, the main obstacle in the way of development, for there is plenty of capital, American and otherwise, only awaiting the opportunity to come in. Another American, Arthur Roger, has bought the millling plant at Enderby, one of the Kamloops Lumber Company's properties, with timber limits near Enderby. In our two plants we give employment to between 600 and 700 men. If we could do all we would like to do we should

Employ at Least 800 Men

We have been even sending men into the prairie country to engage labor and still we are seventy-five men short in the woods. One of the mills in that district has absolutely had to shut down for want of men to work it. All the mills that can do so are working at their utmost capacity and the lumber outlook for the coming spring is very fine; but it looks as if there would be considerable shortage of lumber because of the shortage of logs I have mentioned; and such being the case, I believe that the price of lumber will be still further advanced in the spring.

"There is an erroneous impression abroad that lumber prices are ruled by a ring or trust. Such is not the case.
The price of lumber, both in Canada and the United States, is regulated by the simple effect of supply and demand, and nothing, as far as I can see, can bring about a reduction in the price of lumber except a crop failure on the prairie.
This, by curtailing the purchasing power of the consumer, would limit the demand and the price would then fall.
In the states a similar crisis occurred
some time back. People said that hunber would never again be cheap, but a crop failure occurred in several successive years and prices fell forthwith.

"This kind of thing may occur anytime. I heard it persistently predicted, for instance, that Canada would raise 120 million bushels of wheat this year, but a spell of abnormal heat at a certain period reduced the estimate by 20 per cent, so that now the estimate is only 90 million bushels. Now, suppose there should be a crop failure next year,
the effect on the lumber market would be instantaneous. I am not prophesying but merely stating a reasonable possibility which would of course affect other industries besides lumber; and the lesson to be deducted from this is that people may be carried too far on the crest of a wave of prosperity, but at the same time I believe that timber holdings are a very safe investment."

A Certain Cure for Croup—Used for Ten Years without a Failure.

Mr. W. C. Bott, a Star City, Ind., hardware merchant, is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
His children have all been subject to croup and he has used this remedy for the past ten years, and though they much feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was in the house. His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of croup, but this remedy never failed to effect a speedy cure. He has recommended it to friends and neighbors, and all who have used it say that it is unequalled for croup, and whooping cough. For sale by

SPORTS

Will Play Vancouver

The first Rugby football match of the season will be played at Oak Bay tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, when the local team from Vancouver, "Considerable interest is being taken in the event, as it is the first time since Victorians had the right of representing the local team
in competition with an outside team.
The local players have endeavored to secure the strongest team possible, and though the players are not in the best possible condition, it is expected that they will be able to give a good account of themselves.

The players who will line up against the world beaters from the Malmind school taking tonight runs this week, and a final spirit will be taken this evening, and every player is requested to turn out.

The team from the Terminal City has already met and defeated the Nanaimo Hornets, and will try to repeat the performance tomorrow. All playing members requested to secure their admission
tickets from the secretary, W. Seawright, Langley street, otherwise they will have to pay the full admission fee.

The team that has been selected is as follows: Full back, F. A. Macrae; three-quarter backs, S. Sargison, E. Anderson, D. Thompson and B. Blackburn; half backs, Newcombe and Bray; forwards, Ban-
nack, Mendez, Meredith, Sweeney, Jeffs, Shank, McNeil and Benson; reserves, Hill-ward and Loat.

Will Play Tomorrow

The Victoria Wanderers will make their first appearance in a league game tomorrow afternoon, when they will try conclusively with the Garrison at Work Point.
The Wanderers are as yet an entirely new known quantity, and their advent will be watched with interest. It is true that their line-up will include many of the players who last year composed the Victoria United, but several of the same team are this season playing with the Tovers.

and consequently it is a hard proposition to get a line on the team as a whole. The game will commence at 3 o'clock sharp, and the players are requested to catch the 2:30 car from Government street. The team will line up as follows: Goal, Staden;
backs, H. A. Oward and S. Lormier; half backs, Smith, Schwengers and J. Lormier; forwards, R. Eden, Beyer, Wilson, Alson and Fell.

Arrange Schedule

A special meeting of the Vancouver Island Football Association was held in the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of rearrang-ing the schedule. The result of the meeting was that the season of twelve games to be played before the end of the year. The first game in the rearranged schedule will take place tomorrow, when the Victoria Wanderers will try conclusions with the Garrison at Work Point. Following this there will be a game every Saturday till the end of the year, when another meeting will be held to complete the schedule.
The following is the schedule that has been adopted, the first named team in each case
to be the home team:
Oct. 18 (Thanksgiving Day)—Garrison vs.
Wanderers.

Oct. 20—Tovers vs. Victoria West.
Oct. 27—Y. M. C. A. vs. Garrison.
Nov. 3—Wanderers vs. Tovers.
Nov. 10—Victoria West vs. Y. M. C. A.
Nov. 17—Tovers vs. Garrison.
Nov. 24—Wanderers vs. Y. M. C. A.
Dec. 1—Victoria West vs. Wanderers.
Dec. 8—Garrison vs. Y. M. C. A.
Dec. 15—Tovers vs. Wanderers.
Dec. 22—Garrison vs. Victoria West.
Dec. 29—Y. M. C. A. vs. Tovers.

Capitals Are Leading

The Capitals of Ottawa are now leading in the race for the lacrosse championship of the world, having defeated the Tovers of Toronto by the score of 4-1. This was the first of the two final games, the second of which will be played on the To-vers' grounds tomorrow. The arrangements provide that the team scoring the most goals in the two matches will be declared the winners and by winning with a margin of three goals is considered a pretty good lead, and it is almost a surprise that the Capitals will be able to hold the Indians down to a smaller score than the first game, and thus live down the championship.

HOCKEY

Mid-Week Practice

The members of the Victoria Ladies' Hockey Club will hold their regular mid-week practice at Oak Bay this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The club has arranged a match with the Nanaimo team, and it is very important that every member should be in attendance and get in the best possible condition. The Nanaimo team is said to be much stronger this season than last,
and if the local exponents are to win they must "get out and drill."

Preparing for the Season

There will be a full practice of the Victoria Hockey Club tomorrow morning at Oak Bay. The practice will be held rain or shine, and the players are requested to take the 10 o'clock car from Government street. It is very important that every member of the team should turn out, as a game has been arranged with the Na-naimo club, and it is necessary that the players should be in perfect condition.

YACHTING

Special Meeting

A special general meeting of the Victoria Yacht Club will be held tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock. The meeting will be held at the yacht club house, and as business of an important nature will be dealt with, all members are requested to be present.

BASEBALL

Americans Win Pennant

The baseball championship of the world for the season of 1906 has been decided,
and the Chicago Americans have now the right to be hailed as champions. The final game was played on Sunday before 19,242 howling enthusiasts, and was won by the Americans by the score of 3-3. The Nationals, sent in by three-fifths of the nation,
had the reputation of being the best pitcher in the National league, to do the twirling, but the White Sox took kindly to his delivery, and before he was taken out, the Americans had scored seven runs, and had made eight hits. The victory of the White Sox was a decided surprise to the baseball fans, and considerable money changed hands. The attendance at the series has netted the management and players is as follows:
Total attendance, 60,845; total receipts, $108,550; each club's share, $30,240.65;
players' share, $30,240.65; the manager's share, $10,000; each winning player's share,
$1,257.10; each losing player's share, $417.70.

Last year the total attendance was 91,
633, and the total receipts, $98,405.

COLD ON THE LUNGS.

"We have seven children and have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for every one of them and with good results. We get four bottles at a time and find it a good remedy to break up cold on the lungs."

THE GOGORZA CONCERT.

Successful Musical Event at Victoria Theatre Last Evening.

The opening concert of the Victoria Musical Society's season took place last evening, the great attraction of the evening being the introduction of the celebrated baritone, Signor Emilio de Gogorza to a Victoria audience. In addition to this, however, a programme of exceptional excellence was provided by the society sufficient to tempt a musical public, however capricious or however critical.
Nevertheless, owing perhaps to the deluge of rain or to the excitement created in the city by the news of the stranding of the then awaited steamer Princecess Victoria, from Vancouver, or to both causes combined, the attendance was not all that could have been desired.

Signor Gogorza was in magnificent form and displayed to the full, all those wonderful features of voice and vocal isation the possession of which has made him famous.

The audience, if not large, was at any rate cultured and appreciative and his magnificent numbers were received with prolonged and enthusiastic applause.

The choruses superbly rendered by the society's choir of 100 voices was not the least attractive feature of a delightful entertainment.

In the course of the evening a speech was made by Col. Prior in which he draw attention to the fine public spirit displayed by the society in bringing to the city musical talent of the highest order, at the same time reminding them of the monetary obligation under which the society places itself in so doing and he appealed to the people to extend to these concerns that necessary patronage and support which the society has a right to expect in return.

The piano selected by Signor Gogorza for the occasion was a "Heintzman" supplied by W. Ait & Co.

KILLED ON CROSSING.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 16.—Three foreigners were killed and two others probably fatally injured in a grade crossing accident on the Reading railway here yesterday.

MARINE

The steamer Tosa Maru, of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha line, sailed yesterday for the Orient, carrying a fair complement of passengers and a full cargo of flour, machinery and general merchandise. She is one of the Japanese liners placed in command of a Japanese recently. The Shinnano Maru of the same line is due. The Shinnano, which is expected to reach port today
—a large steamer was reported passing inward yesterday afternoon—left Yokohama on October 3, two days in advance of her schedule, sailing a few hours previous to the departure of the Empress of Japan, which, as stated yesterday, made the run across the Pacific with the Overseas Mail in 10 days, 22 hours and 41 minutes.

Another trans-Pacific liner expected is the Pelidae, which sailed from Yokohama on October 4 and is bringing 200 tons of general freight for this port. The Pelidae is one of the freighters of the Boston Tugboat Company and has been running to Vladvostok and the China ports. The demand for flour and merchandise for Dalny, Newchwang, Taku and Vladvostok have been increasing so much of late that it has been found necessary to charter special steamers to carry the surplus offerings which the regular steamers have been unable to accommodate. The steamers Boverie and Quito are among those most recently chartered.

AN OBLIGING LAUNCH.
Skipper Falls Out, Boat Turns, Comes Back and Stops for Him.
An Olympia despatch, dated October 14th says: Dick Helser, a well known yachtsman, while coming up from Oyster bay the other day alone in his launch, had occasion to go to the stern of the launch and tripped and fell overboard.
The launch was running full speed. When Mr. Helser came to the surface and got the salt water out of his eyes the launch was speeding merrily along a couple of hundred yards from him. Shore seemed an awfully long way off and the water was certainly cold. While the hapless victim trod water and watched the launch, he noticed that it was not going in a straight direction but was gradually sailing in a circle.

"Say," chattered Mr. Helser to himself, "that blamed thing is coming right back here after a while," and then he began to evolve in his brain some scheme for boarding a runaway launch going ten miles an hour. The launch rapidly described a circle about a half mile in diameter, and to further show its tractability the engine stopped sparking, and the craft finally came to a standstill about 100 feet from the swimmer.
Mr. Helser clambered aboard the runaway, primed the engine, cranked it and started it up without a buck.

SUICIDE OF SHIP'S MASTER.
A recent issue of the Japan Mail had the following: "The first mate of the German schooner Neek, arriving at Yokohama from New York on the 2nd, reports to the water police that on June 14, during the voyage,
the master of the sailing vessel took much morphine and opium several times to cure rheumatic pains, from which he was suffering severely. Consequently the pains passed away, but at the same time some mental change seemed to have occurred in the master. He was on duty until 7 p. m. when he ordered the sailors to carry out exercises on deck, but they did not comply with the master's command, regarding him as being mentally deranged.
At 4 p. m. that day the master sold the schooner to the captain, and then he returned to his cabin and locked the door,
and asked him not to wake him for a time.
The master then retired from deck. In the evening the first mate, hearing the schooner was under way, went up and noticed somebody running away in the dark.
The first mate chased the stranger, but the latter jumped overboard. Every effort to rescue the man, and subsequently turned out to be the master, ended in failure."

JAPANESE WANT DAMAGES.
Rookery Raiders Ask Their Government to Present Claim to U. S.

The Japanese sailing company, owning the schooner Toyok Maru No. 2, which raided the St. Paul Island rookery in Behring sea, under circumstances described yesterday, has presented a claim for damages on account of the killing of five seals and the capture of twelve others, thus breaking up their schooner's cruise. For this the company wants damages from the United States government.
The directors of the Japanese sailing company, the Toyok Fishing Company, of Wakayama, state that the seals called for water, but were treacherously fired upon. Statements published by Yokohama report, however, as stated yesterday, that this is untrue, the raid having been premeditated, and 192 seals having been killed. The Jiji Shimpu, of Tokyo, says:
"Mr. T. Matsue and another director of the Toyok Fishing Company, on September 28, paid a visit to the foreign office, and presented the foregoing letter to Viscount Hayashi. At the same time, the directors asked His Excellency to lodge a claim with the American government. The minister replied that one of the secretaries of the embassy in Washington is now at the Aleutian Islands investigating the affair,
and nothing could be done till his report was received."

MARINE NOTES.

S. S. Umattila sails for San Francisco tonight at 12 o'clock, having been detained on the Sordil, with the result that she will not sail until 1 p. m., and is due here at 11 p. m.

The bark Ana Bezonaka, the first vessel of the line of the company, is due to enter Port of Spain, arriving at 12 o'clock yesterday. The bark, an alien from South America, is held on the steamship by the United States immigration authorities for further observation. It is believed to be mentally unbalanced and will be deported
on the vessel to Chile.

The missionary steamer Morning Star,
which sailed from Honolulu last Tuesday for Seattle, returned to the island port yesterday at the rate of eighteen to twenty miles an hour. The steamer put back when 500 miles from Honolulu.

KEEPS OUT UNITED STATES TUG.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 16.—The colonial ministry has refused the United States naval tug Potomac, which is now at Bay of Islands, free entry for stores in spite of the fact that this concession is accorded French warships in these waters.

The Potomac has on board A. B.
Alexander, chief of statistics division
and methods of the bureau of fisheries for the department of commerce and labor, who is studying the Newfoundland fisheries dispute.

The Betrayal

A Powerful and Fascinating Serial Story

"There is a little path there, you see, leading to the sands," she said. "It saves you quite half the distance to your cottage if you do not mind a scramble. You must take care just at first. So many of the stones are loose."

I understood that I was dismissed, and I thanked her as I turned away. But she almost immediately called me back.

"Mr. Duaneine!"

"Lady Angela?"

Her dark eyes were fixed curiously upon my face. She seemed to be weighing something in her mind. I had a fancy that when she spoke again it would be without that deliberation—at most restraint—which seemed to accord a little strangely with the girl'sness of her appearance and actual years. She stood on the extreme edge of the cliff, her slim figure outlined to angularity against the sky. She remained so long without speech that I had time to note all these things. The sunshine, breaking through the thin-topped pine trees, lay everywhere about us; a little brown feathered bird, scarcely a dozen yards away, sang to us so lustily that the soft feathers around his throat stood out like a ruff. Down below the sea came rushing to the shingles.

"Mr. Duaneine," she said at last, "did my father name you any other of employment this afternoon?"

It was a direct, almost a blunt question. I was taken by surprise, but I answered her without hesitation.

"He made me no definite offer," I said.

"At the same time he asked me a great many questions, for which he must have had some reason, and he gave me the idea that, subject to the approval of some one, he was thinking of me in connection with some post."

"Colonel Ray was telling me," she said, "how unfortunate you have been with your pupils. I wonder—don't you think that perhaps you might get some others?"

"I have tried," I answered. "So far I have not been lucky. At present, too, I scarcely see how I could expect to get any, for I have nowhere to put them. I had to give up the lease of the Grange, and there is no house round here which I could afford to take."

Some portion of her delicate assurance had certainly deserted her. Her manner was almost nervous.

"If you could possibly find the pupils," she said, hesitatingly, "I should like to ask you a favor. The Manor has a vacant room on the other side of the village. My own, and I should so like to occupy it. I would let it to you for thinking of ten pounds a year. I am a man and his wife there now as caretakers. They would be able to look after you."

"You are very kind," I said again, "but I am afraid that I could not take advantage of such an offer."

"Why not?"

"I have no claim upon you or your father," I answered. "We are almost strangers, are we not? I might accept it, and be grateful for employment, but this is clearly not the case."

"A very conventional reply, Mr. Duaneine," she remarked, with faint sarcasm. "I gave you credit for a larger view of things."

I found her still inexpressible. She was evidently annoyed, and yet she did not seem to wish me to be. There was a cloud upon her face and a nervousness in her manner which I wholly failed to understand.

"If I were to tell you," she said, raising her eyes suddenly to mine, "that your acceptance of my offer would be a favor—would put me under a real obligation to you?"

"I should still have to remind you," I declared, "that as yet I have no pupils, and it takes time to get them. Further, I have arrived at that position when immediate employment, if it only as a breaker of stones upon the road, is a necessity to me."

She sighed.

"My father will offer you a post," she said slowly.

"Now you are a real Samaritan, Lady Angela," I declared. "I only hope that it may be so."

Her face reflected none of my enthusiasm.

"You jump at conclusions," she said, coldly. "How do you know that the post will be one which you will be able to fill?"

"If your father offers it to me," I answered confidently, "he must take the risk of that."

I was surprised at her speech—perhaps a little nettled. I was an "Honors" man, an exceptional linguist, and twenty-five. It did not seem likely to me that there was any post which the Duke might offer me which I should not be competent to fill.

"He will offer it you," she said, looking steadily downwards on to the sands below, "and you will accept it. I am sure."

"Sorry!" I exclaimed.

"Very. If I could find you those pupils I would," she continued. "If I could persuade you to lay aside for once the pride which a man seems to think a part of his natural equipment, it would make me very happy."

"Stop," I interrupted. "You must explain this, Lady Angela."

She shook her head.

"Explain is just what I cannot," she said, sadly. "That is what I can never do."

I was completely bewildered now. She was looking seaward, her face steadily averted from mine. As to her attitude towards me, I could make nothing of it. I could not even decide whether it was friendly or inimical. Did she want this post for some one else? If so, surely her influence with her father would be strong enough to secure it. She had spoken to me kindly enough. The faint air of reserve that she seemed to carry with her everywhere, which, coupled with a certain quietness of deportment, appeared to most of the people around to indicate pride, had for these few minutes, at any rate, been lifted. She had come down from the clouds, and spoken to me as any other woman to any other man. And now she had wound up by throwing me into a state of hopeless bewilderment.

"Lady Angela," I said, "I think that you owe me some explanation. If you can assure me that it is in any way against your wishes, if you will give me the shadow of a reason why I should refuse what has not yet been offered to me—well, I will do it. I will do it even if I must starve."

A little forced smile parted her lips. She looked at me kindly.

"I have said a great deal more than I meant to, Mr. Duaneine. I think that it would have been better if I had had most of it unsaid. You must go your own way. I only wanted to guard you against disappointment."

"Disappointment! You think, after all, then—"

"No, that is not what I meant," she interrupted. I am sure that you will be offered the post, and I am sure that you will not hesitate to accept it. But her utterance I think that it will tell you quite a great deal more than I could have said quite intimately. I have held this post, and each in turn has been dismissed. They have lost the confidence of their employers, and though each, I believe, was ambitious and meant to make a career, they have now a black mark against their name."

"You are very mysterious, Lady Angela," I said, doubtfully.

"It is of necessity," she answered. "Perhaps I take rather a morbid view of things, but one of them was that brother of a great name of mine, and they four that he has lost his reason. There are peculiar and painful difficulties in connection with this post, Mr. Duaneine, and I think it only fair to give you this warning."

"You are very kind," I said. "I only wish that the whole thing was clearer to me."

She smiled a little sadly.

"At least," she said, "let me give you one word of advice. You will be brought into contact with many people whose integrity will seem to you a positive and certain thing. Nevertheless, treat every one alike. Trust no one. Absolutely no one, Mr. Duaneine. It is your only chance. Now go."

Her gesture of dismissal was almost imperative. I scrambled down the path and gained the sands. When I looked up she was still standing there. The wind blew her skirts around her slim limbs, and her hair was streaming behind her. Her face seemed like a piece of delicate oval statuary, her steady eyes seemed fixed upon some point where the clouds and sea met. She took no heed of me, she did not even see, my gesture of farewell. I left her there inscrutable, a child with the face of a Sphinx. She had set me a riddle which I could not solve.

CHAPTER VII.

Col. Ray's Ring

The ring lay on the table between us. Colonel Ray had not yet taken it up. In grim silence he listened to my faltering words. When I finished he smiled upon me as one might upon a child that needed humming.

"So," he said, slipping the ring upon his finger, "you have saved me from the hangman. What remains? Your reward, eh?"

"It may seem to you," I answered hotly, "a fitting subject for jokes. I am sorry that my sense of humor is not in touch with yours. You are a great traveler, and you have shaken death by the hand before. For me it is a new thing. The man's face haunts me. I cannot sleep at night for thinking of it—of how I have seen it dead, and as I saw it alive pressed against my window—that night. Who was he? What did he want with me?"

"How do you know," Ray asked, "that he wanted anything from you?"

"He looked in at the window."

"He might have seen me enter."

"Then I told him what I had meant to keep secret."

"He asked for me in the village. He was directed to my cottage."

Ray had been filling his pipe. His fingers paused in their task. He looked at me steadily.

"How do you know that?" he asked.

"The person to whom he spoke in the village told me so."

"Then why did that person not appear at the inquest?"

"Because I asked her not to," I told him. "If she had given evidence the verdict must have been a different one."

"It seems to me," he said quietly, "that you have noted foolishly. If that young woman, whoever she may be, chooses to tell the truth to her father, you will be in an awkward position."

"If she had told the truth yesterday," I answered, "the position would have been quite awkward enough. Let that go! I want to know who that man was, what he wanted with me."

Colonel Ray shrugged his shoulders.

"My young friend," he said, "have you come from Braster to ask that question?"

"To give you the ring and to ask you that question."

"How do you know that the ring is mine?"

"I saw it on your finger when you were giving me mine."

"Then you believe," he said, "that I killed him?"

"It is no concern of mine," I cried hoarsely. "I do not want to know. I do not want to hear. But I tell you that the man's face haunts me. He asked for me in the village. I feel that he came to Rowchester to see me. And he is dead. Whatever he came to say or tell me will be buried with him. Who was he? Tell me that?"

Ray smoked on for a few moments reflectively.

"Sit down, sit down," he said gruffly. "And do abandon that tragical aspect. The creature was not worth all this agitation. He lived like a dog, and he died like one."

"It is true, then?" I murmured.

"If you insist upon knowing," Ray said coolly, "I killed him! There are insects upon which one's foot falls, reptiles which one removes from the earth without a vestige of a qualm, with a certain sense of relief. He was of this order."

"He was a human being," I answered.

"He was none the better for that," Ray declared. "I have known animals of finer disposition."

"You at least," I said fiercely, "were not his judge. You struck him in the back, for it was a cowardly action."

Ray turned his head. Then I saw that around his neck was a circular bandage.

"If it interests you to know it," he remarked drily, "I was not the assailant. But for the fact that I was warned it might have been my body which you came across on the sands. I started a second too soon for my friend—and our exchange of compliments sent him to eternity."

"It was in self-defence, then?"

"Certainly that. He would have run away if he could."

"Tell me who he was," I insisted.

Ray shook his head.

"Better for you not to know," he remarked reflectively. "Much better."

My cheeks grew hot with anger.

"Colonel Ray," I said, "this may yet be a serious affair for you. Why you should assume that I am willing to be a silent accessory to your crime I cannot imagine. I insist upon knowing who this man was."

"You have come to London," Ray answered quietly. "To ask me this?"

"I have told you before why I am here," I answered. "I will not be put off any longer. Who was that man, and where did you kill him?"

For a period of time which I could not measure, but which seemed to me of great duration, there was silence between us. Then Ray leaned over towards me.

"I think," he said, "that it is my turn to talk. You have come to me like a hysterical schoolboy, you seem ignorant of the primeval elements of justice. After all it is not wonderful. As yet you have only looked in upon life. You look in, but you do not understand. You have called me a coward. It is only a year or so since his Majesty pinned a little cross upon my coat—for valor. I won that for saving a man's life. Mind you, he was a man. He was a man and a comrade. To save him I rode through a hell of bullets. It ought to have meant death. As a matter of fact it didn't. That was my luck. But you mustn't call me a coward, Duaneine. It is an insult to my decoration."

"Oh, I know that you are brave enough," I answered, "but this man was a poor weak creature, a baby in your hands."

"So are the snakes we stamp beneath our feet," he answered coolly. "Yet we kill them. In Egypt I have been in more than one hot corner where we fought hand to hand. I have killed men more than once. I have watched them gasping at my feet with waving swords, and their fine faces ablaze with the joy of battle, and all the time one's revolver went spit, and the saddles were empty. Yet never once have I sent a brave man to his last account without regret, enemy and fanatic though he was. I am not a bloodthirsty man. When I kill, it is because necessity demands it. As for that creature whom you found in the marshes, well, if there were a dozen such in this room, I would do my best to rid the earth of them. Take my advice. Dismiss the whole subject from your mind. Go back to Braster and wait. Something may happen within the next twenty-four hours which will be very much to your benefit. Go back to Braster and wait."

"You will tell me nothing, then?" I asked. "It is treating me like a child. I am not a sentimentalist. If the man deserved death the matter is between you and your conscience. But he came to Rowchester to see me. I want to know why."

"Go back to Rowchester and wait," Ray said. "I shall tell you nothing. Depend upon it. His business with you, if he had any, was evil business. He and his whole brood left their marks for evil wherever they crawled."

"His name?" I answered.

"Were there no papers upon him?" Ray demanded.

"So much the better," Ray declared grimly. "Now, my young friend, I have given you all the time I can spare. Beyond what I have said I shall say nothing. If you had known me better—you would not be here still."

So I left him. His words gave me no loophole of hope. His silence was the silence of a strong man, and I had no weapons with which to assail it. I had wasted the money which I could ill afford on the journey to London.

Ray's advice was good. The sooner I was back to Braster the better.

At the station I had walked straight to Ray's house, and from Ray's house I returned, without any deviation, direct to the great terminus. For a man with less than fifty pounds in the world London is scarcely a hospitable city. I caught a slow train, and after four hours of jolting, cold, and the usual third-class miseries, alighted at Rowchester Junction. Already I had started on the three mile tramp home, my coat collar turned up, as some slight protection against the drizzling rain, when a two-wheeled trap overtook me, and Mr. Moyat shouted out a gruff greeting. He raised the water-proof apron, and I clambered in by his side.

"Been to Sunbridge?" he inquired cheerfully.

"I have been to London," I answered.

"You haven't been long about it," he remarked. "I saw you on the eight-twenty, didn't I?"

I nodded.

"My business was soon over," I said. "I've been to Sunbridge," he told me. "Went over with his Grace. My girl was talking about you the other night, Mr. Duaneine."

I started.

"Indeed?" I answered.

"Seemed to think," he continued, "that things had been growing a bit rough for you, losing those pupils after you'd been at the expense of taking the Grange, and all that, you know."

"It was rather bad luck," I admitted quietly.

"I've been wondering," he continued, "with some diffidence, 'whether you'd care for a bit of work in my office, just to carry you along till things looked up. Blanche, she was set upon it that I should ask you anyway. Of course, you being a college young gentleman might not care about it, but there's times when any sort of a job is better than none, eh?"

"It is very kind of you, Mr. Moyat," I answered, "and very kind of Mrs. Blanche. I have thought of it. I would not have hesitated. But within the last few days I have a sort of offer—I don't know whether it will come to anything, but it may. Might I leave it open for the present?"

"I think that Mr. Moyat was a little disappointed. He flicked the cob with his whip, and looked straight ahead into the driving mist."

"Just as you say," he declared. "I ain't particular in want of any one, but I'm getting to find my own work keeping a bit hard, especially now that my eyes ain't what they were. Of course it would only be a thirty bob a week job, but I suppose you'd live on that all right, unless you were thinking of getting married, eh?"

I laughed derisively.

"Married, Mr. Moyat," I exclaimed. "Why, I'm next door to a pauper."

"There's such a thing," he remarked thoughtfully, "if one's a steady sort of a chap, and means to stick to it, and pick up a girl with a bit of brass now and then."

is.

"Shirk the question as we will, there is no getting away from the fact that the set about whom I am speaking is regarded by most people as the concentrated essence of selfishness--unclean,
and unwholesome as any condemned product of Chicago, or to borrow the Master's language, 'whited sepulchre full of dead men's bones and all filthiness.'"

"Do they ever pretend to fulfill their duty in life? Certainly they do not spend much time in prayer, nor do they give much care to their children, nor good example to their servants, nor consideration to their neighbor."

"Indeed, how can they when their order of the day is what it is, and when the card table is their highest ambition in life? And it is well when the winning card falls into their hands, for then there is just a chance of some dressmaker or tradesman being paid something on account before becoming bankrupt."

The Lord Chancellor, has, on the recommendation of Sir H. Hevey Bruce,
D. L., appointed Mr. Thomas Graham,
R. D. C. for Maghera, to the Commission of the Peace for the Maghera Division County Derry. Mr. Graham is a well-known gentleman in the district, and is chairman of the Maghera Board of Guardians.

TYPHOON WAS ON

WIND GOD'S DAY

Superstitious Chinese Awed at Disaster--Aftermath Like a Battlefield

The typhoon which caused such havoc at Hongkong on September 18, occurred on the day the Chinese and Japanese hold sacred to the wind-god. To what the superstition owes its genesis it is impossible to say, but there is in the Oriental mind some connection between the probability of storm and the formation of the rice in the ear, which is supposed to take place on the first day of the eighth moon.

A writer who was present at the battle of Lingyang, who was at Hongkong during the typhoon, says: "It suggested a battlefield. That was the impression that one gained when climbing over the debris that littered the sea front both of the Island and Kowloon. There was all the waste and wreckage that is found on the field where two armies have been engaged in a desperate struggle. There were, it is true, no bodies scattered about to supply the tangible evidence that this morning breath of Death had scorched the life out of thousands of fellow-creatures. But the imagination easily enabled one to penetrate into the thought the discolored waters of the harbor, and see down there, amid the scum, the battered bodies of those who a few hours before were full of life and the joy of living. The brilliant sunshine sparkling on the smooth waters this morning rendered the scenes of devastation more terrible. It seemed almost as if Nature was smiling over the ruin that, in a fit of frenzies passion, she had wrought.

"The human side of it was what appealed--and appealed. Here and there amid the litter which covered the tops of the Prays and clung to the seawall could be seen men and women and even children making pathetic efforts to save something of what were once their homes--the only homes they knew, and for which no doubt they had shed much of their blood. They were the houses which have become declared to us by the associations that cling round them. Poor people! It was little enough that they could hope to save. The storm had done its worst. The waves, the sumps and smaller junks had, literally, been smashed to matchwood. None the less it was the duty imposed by necessity upon them to save even the useless looking fragments. Those who at the best of times hover on the boundary line between life and death, when stricken down by such a blow have no time to indulge their desires for those of whom they were heretofore Thoirs it is to take up the struggle at once against harder odds than ever without pausing to mourn.

To give a comprehensive description of the amount of ruin wrought would be impossible. It would be easier to state what has not been destroyed and damaged. Naturally it was upon the harbor that the destruction and loss of life was greatest.
The larger warships and merchant vessels rode out the storm well with but few exceptions. But, as will be seen by the returns given elsewhere, among the smaller craft terrific havoc was occasioned. About fifty per cent of the shipping that was afloat when the storm broke is now either reposing on the harbor bottom or breaking the sea front in shattered fragments of wood and iron.

Cottage Burned.--The fire department was given a run to Spring Ridge yesterday afternoon in response to an alarm
from Box 30, at the corner of Stanley avenue and North Beach street. The blaze was in a cottage at the locality
mentioned and had obtained a good headway before the department arrived on the scene, and despite a good supply of water it was impossible to save the house and contents.
